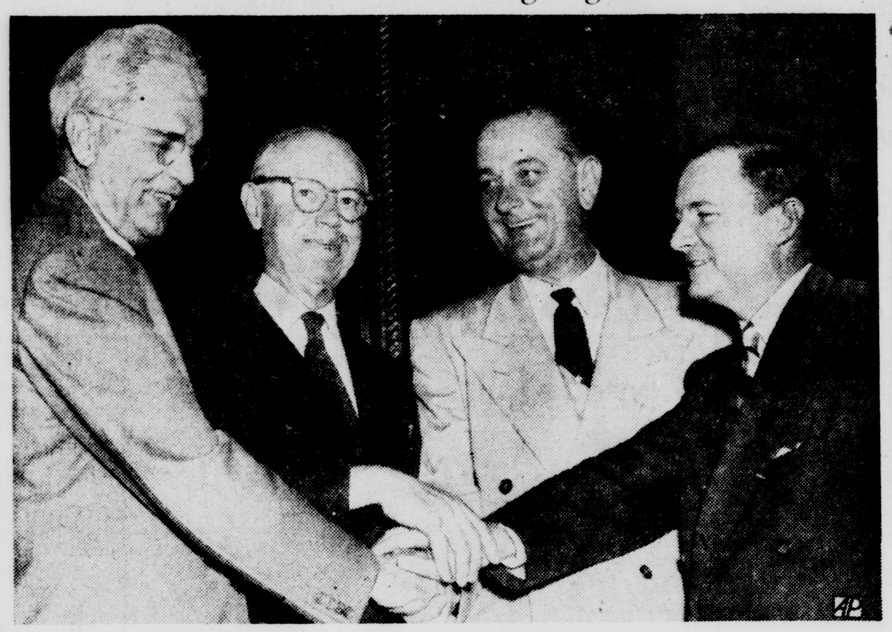
State Will Seek Bids For West Approach To Kingston Bridge

Victors After Long Fight



Four backers of legislation to establish state ownership of off-shore submerged oil lands engage in mutual congratulations in Washington after Senate passage of the meaure by a 56 to 35 vote. Left to right are Senators Spessard Holland (D.-Fla.), Robert A. Taft (R.-Ohio); Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.) and Price Daniel (D.-Tex). The vote ended the longest Senate debate in 15 years. No Progress Is Made in Korea Talk

Reds Reject Proposal to Free 32,000 After Truce Is Signed in War

Panmunjom, May 6 (AP)—A UN truce negotiator today said "zero" progress had been made toward a Korean armistice after the Reds rejected a proposal to free 32,000 North Korean prisoners who refuse to go home after a truce is signed.

The Reds again ignored the allied nomination of Pakistan as neutral custodian of 48,500 prisoners who refuse to return to their Communist homelands.

Instead, Gen. Nam Il charged the allied proposal was "void of reason" and "unworthy of refutation." He reiterated the Red demand that balking captives be shipped to a neutral nation and that the functions of the neutral be ironed out before deciding anything else.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison suggested that the 32,000 North Koreans be freed immediately after a truce is signed and that they be given civilian status so they could settle anywhere in Korea.

No Captives Mentioned

He made no mention of Chinese captives who refuse repatriation. Some observers speculated that the UN command might be willing to listen to a compromise plan which would send Chinese to the neutral custodian while leaving Koreans in Korea.

The Reds want all 48,500 sent bodily to the neutral nation pending a decision as to their future. They insist that all will want to go home once their fears have been quieted by explanations.

The UN says the captives must remain in Korea under neutral supervision until they make up their minds where they want to go. Many POWs have vowed to kill themselves rather than leave Korea, the allies said.

After Harrison made his proposal, the Reds took a one hour and 48 minutes recess. Nam returned and rejected it in angry tones.

Nam Shows Anger

Allied spokesmen said the usually poker-faced Nam showed anger in his facial expression and by speaking in short, clipped sentences.

He said Harrison failed to clarify questions the Communists posed Tuesday on how the neutral would operate. After Tuesday's meeting, Harrison called the Red questions "a negotiating smokescreen."

Harrison said the Reds were simply using the same old stalling tactics.

"At the moment, I would say progress is zero," he said, but added he was not implying an armistice would not be reached.

Negotiators will meet again at 11 a. m. Thursday, (9 p. m., Wednesday EST) in the tiny truce hut.

Harrison told newsmen the Red questions were an effort to draw allied delegates into "interminable discussions on side issues."

He said, however, there was always a possibility the Communists were using the questions as a means to reach a compromise position.

He said that in such cases it was always necessary to keep a strict guard but also to leave the door "wide open" for further negotiations.

Two Traffic Counts Are Underway in City

One for Arterial Survey Based on Viaduct, Thruway

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan, said today that the city planning commission was co-operating with the state on a traffic count in conjunction with the arterial route survey promised recently by B. D. Tallamy as chairman of the New York State Thruway Authority and dealing with the Washington avenue viaduct.

Another traffic count, of the type made here annually by the Poughkeepsie district office of the state public works department is also in progress in the city.

The city planning board offered to assist in the count because of the present pressure on state men now employed on the thruway and state public works projects.

Tallamy recently told Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk at Albany that a survey would be made to determine if the Washington avenue viaduct and narrow Esopus creek bridge should be considered as part of a state arterial route, and if they are, he said, the state can take remedial steps.

Local Men Assist

Hallinan said local men are assisting in the traffic count at nine stations set up to get data for the arterial route survey, and the public works department has set up four other stations to obtain data in their usual annual count. Each group is cooperating with the other.

The nine stations for the thruway authority survey cover traffice mostly in and out of the city.

The city had turned over to the thruway authority such aerial maps as would be helpful in conducting the survey, and the information obtained in the traffic count will help in determining what is to be done with the viaduct and bridge for the handling of thruway traffic when the express highway is finished.

Several of the automatic counters have been stationed in the uptown area, and others are operating along main routes to and from the city.

The mayor and City Engineer Hallinan went to Albany recently to prevail upon Tallamy not to open the thruway to traffic at Route 28 until the strip south of the city is completed. They presented the city's traffic problems, including the narrow viaduct and congested uptown streets, and Tallamy said a survey would be made at once.

The traffic count as authorized by the thruway authority is a first step in starting the survey.

Wicks' Operation Reported Success

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of this city, underwent minor surgery this morning at Albany Hospital and at mid-morning was reported resting comfortably after a successful operation.

The senate majority leader, who will become acting lieutenant governor in September upon the resignation of Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore, "came through very well and will be in the hospital about a week," an official source told The Freeman.

Hurley District 4 To Send 8th Grade Pupils to Kingston

Reports Given on Sessions Held by School Boards in Four Towns of County

Eighth grade students of Hurley School District No. 4 will attend the Myron J. Michael School in Kingston next fall. It is estimated that about 14 eighth graders will attend the Kingston school.

This change became necessary because of the promotion of an unusually large kindergarten class to the first grade next fall. Approximately 32 kindergarten pupils will enter first grade.

The vote to send the eighth grade students to the MJM School was approximately two to one.

Will Save $740

Strange as it may seem, it was pointed out, there will be an estimated saving of about $740 by the move. The alternate plan had been to hire the town firehouse and engage the services of another teacher for the additional room. The cost of the two systems was advanced and it was stated the cost of sending the eighth grade students to Kingston, together with transportation, would be less than to hire the firehouse and an additional teacher. As a result of adoption of the plan to send the eighth grade students to Kingston the original budget submitted was revised downward with an estimated saving of about $740. The budget as adopted was approximately $42,550.

Jack A. Gill was re-elected trustee and Clifford Miller was elected a trustee to replace Trustee Skerritt. The new officers will assume office on July 1.

Change Trustee System

Changing from the single trustee system to a three trustee system, voters of the Town of Ulster School District No. 8, last evening elected Edward Dingeldey trustee for one year, Reginald Russell for two years and William O'Kelly for a three year term. Arthur Vernooy, who has served the district as trustee declined renomination.

Mrs. Rose P. Peters was re-elected collector-treasurer and Mrs. Elizabeth Maxon was re-elected clerk.

A budget of approximately $65,000 was adopted, the budget being about the same as last year although there has been an increase in tuition for the ensuing school year. This was possible due to a $5,000 note having been included in last year's budget for payment.

Still Study School Plan

A committee appointed some time ago to investigate the proposition of erecting a school in the district to accommodate students who now attend the Kingston schools, was continued after the committee had reported some progress and that the committee was still working on the proposal. Last December the officials of the Town of Ulster District No. 8, sent a proposal to the Kingston board of education asking if the city would take School District No. 8 into the Kingston system. This was done at the request of

Refuses Answer

Mortimer Offner, TV and theatrical director, sits at witness table at hearing of House Unamerican Activities Committee in New York. Offner stood on his constitutional rights and refused to say whether he had ever been a Communist. He denounced Leo Townsend, a previous witness, as a "stool pigeon screen writer." Townsend had stated that Offner was a sectional financial director of the Communist party in Hollywood in 1947 and 1948.

PowerShovel, 2 Zoning Bids Are Approved

Common Council action last night approved purchase of a $25,260 power shovel and two zoning changes including one for the belatedly disputed former Cummings property at Washington and Lucas avenues.

Requests of the Civil Service Employes Association for three weeks vacations after five years of employment, and social security status for local civil service employes were left with the laws and rules committee.

A party vote of 9-3 authorized the BPW to buy the new excavating power shovel, and the three Democrats were joined by Fourth Ward Alderman Joseph Wenzel in favoring delay of the Lucas avenue zoning change.

The aldermen voted to put the municipal stadium concession under control of the Common Council instead of the BPW, to exempt from taxation the Foxhall avenue properties recently bought by Kingston Hospital for its expansion program, and to buy 34 new parking meters at a cost not to exceed $69.50.

The law firm of Richter and Werbalowsky filed a claim against the city for Lawrence and Marjorie M. Woerner, 220 Hasbrouck avenue, for injuries which Mrs. Woerner suffered in a fall through an open manhole on the north sidewalk of Hasbrouck avenue below Delaware avenue, April 23.

Plans Ready For Review By Builders

Roadway Must Be Open to Bridge Site Prior to Actual Construction Work

Bids for construction of the west approach to the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge over the Hudson river probably will be advertised for within the next few weeks, it was disclosed today. These bids will be sought through the New York State Department of Public Works, acting for the Bridge Authority.

James F. Loughran, chairman of the Bridge Authority, said he hoped local contractors would avail themselves of the opportunity to bid on this preliminary work.

Apparently the last obstacle has been cleared and the way is now open to advertise for bids for the west approach to the bridge. It is necessary that an approach be available to the bridge site before any substantial work can be commenced on the actual bridge structure. Completion of the west approach would give the bridge contractor access to the bridge site.

Plans Are Prepared

Plans for the aproach have been prepared and approved by the Bridge Authority and sent to the State Department of Public Works and are now ready to be submitted to bidders. Rights of way for the approach are being acquired by the Department of Public Works on behalf of the Bridge Authority.

Since the Bridge Authority has no organization to take care of the construction of the west approach, the work will be done under the direction of the State Department of Public Works on behalf of the Bridge Authority and under the direction of the Public Works district engineer.

To Advertise Soon

Actual advertising for the work should commence within the next few weeks since the proposed approach plans have been approved by the Bridge Authority and submitted to the State department for solicitation of bids and awarding of contract.

Bids for the construction of the approaches will be sought through the State Department of Public Works in much the same manner that bids for construction of the Thruway are advertised and contracts let.

An early awarding of the contract for the west approach would mean that work probably will be started on the job this summer.

Dulles Says U. S. Consults On Appeal to UN for Laos

Secretary Says Allies Are Approached on Matter; Threat Is Noted

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States is consulting with several allies on a possible appeal to the United Nations for action in dealing with the Communist-led invasion of Laos.

Dulles noted that France, Thailand and the three associated states of Indochina were involved in the new southeast Asia crisis.

"We are in conversation with all those countries with reference to possible United Nations actions," the secretary told the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Its Straight Aggression

The attack on Laos, Dulles testified, "does not even pretend to be a revolutionary effort but is straight military aggression."

He testified that a successful extension of the attack against Thailand would mean a threat to Burma and Indonesia and might make the future of Japan "extremely precarious."

Present plans to put Japan on a self-supporting basis, he said, contemplate development of Japanese trade with southeast Asia. Should that area succumb to aggression, he said, "we might have to permit Japanese trade with the Communist mainland," or else spend a great deal more money than now for Japanese economic support.

Thai and U. S. officials reported earlier today that Dulles has told Ambassador Pote Sarasin the U. S. would give "most sympathetic consideration" to a Thai request for expansion of arms aid to that embattled country.

Leggs Mills Span To Be Ready Soon

Loughran Warns Bridge Is Not Suited for Heavy Use Unless Policed

Work on repairs to the Leggs Mills bridge over the Esopus creek is in progress and it will be a few days before traffic may again use the bridge which was damaged when a car struck the structure after skidding on wet pavements recently.

Material for the necessary parts were acquired in the open market and the steel was fabricated at the Ulster County Highway Department garage where the necessary fittings were forged.

Workmen for the highway department were engaged on the job today. County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran said the work would take a few days. Meanwhile the bridge remains closed.

Guard Removed

For some time after opening of the Thruway between Saugerties and Lake Katrine police officials were stationed at the bridge to regulate traffic. These officers were withdrawn some time ago.

At the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors County Superintendent Loughran submitted a request that an appropriation be made available and the sheriff or some police authority be empowered to police the bridge and regulate traffic. No action was taken on the recommendation made to regulate traffic over the narrow bridge.

No Enforcement Now

Traffic coming down the Thruway to Lake Katrine must either cross the Leggs Mills bridge or travel by way of Sawkill. Heavy truck traffic is barred from use of the bridge beyond the legal posted limit. Since the withdrawal of the police officers from the bridge no traffic regulation is enforced and many heavy vehicles have been using the bridge. During the time traffic was regulated no heavy vehicles were permitted to use the bridge and other traffic was regulated by traffic lights operated by the officers.

Gives Warning

The highway department maintains that the old light bridge over the creek cannot handle the expected heavy traffic unless it is regulated. The request for a special appropriation to police the bridge until the Thruway is completed further south, was made by Mr. Loughran to protect the structure which he has said "will be in the creek before the summer ends" if heavy traffic is not regulated.

Might Call Second

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Washington officials speculated today that President Eisenhower, encouraged by reaction to his special conference of state governors, might call a second one before another year is up. Both the President and the governors spoke of hopes for future conferences, but mentioned no dates. There was some guessing also that the President may have helped himself politically. He appeared before the governors twice, had them to lunch, stressed solution of "too long neglected" problems with the states, and won the comment from some state executives, "he spoke our language."

Issue Is Defeated

Poughkeepsie, May 6 (AP)—A proposed $3,097,000 bond issue for a new high school was defeated by the voters yesterday, 5,999 to 1,919. The chief objection seemed to be the site picked for the school, rather than the need to replace the old building, erected in 1914.

Will Visit Brother

Washington, May 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower will fly to Pennsylvania Saturday to spend the weekend at the home of his brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State College. The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will leave Washington early Saturday morning for the trip to State College, Pa. The presidential plane Columbine will land at nearby Philipsburg, Pa.

$24.50 for Plumbers

Youngstown, O., May 6 (AP)—Journeymen Plumbers' daily pay here went up by one dollar to $24.50 under a new wage contract reported today by Dewey Hubbard, business agent for the AFL Plumbers' Union.

President Might Get Tidelands Oil Measure Quickly

Bill Is Passed by Senate 56-35 After Bitter Debate Since April 1

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The bill to give the states title to oil-laden submerged lands off their shores, debated in the Senate for more than a month, may pick up marked speed and wind up within a few days on the desk of President Eisenhower, who has indicated he will sign it.

The measure which the Senate passed 56-35 late yesterday, after an acrimonious debate which started April 1, differs in one major respect and some minor ones from the measure approved earlier by the House.

But efforts were being made to persuade the House Republican leadership that the best course would be for the House to accept the Senate version, rather than risk a new Senate talkfest over a compromise.

No Action Likely

No action was likely today, since the House scheduled only memorial services for members and former members who have died in the last year. But tomorrow, it is likely the House will be asked to accept the Senate measure. If it does so, the bill would go to the White House.

Before approving the bitterly-fought legislation, subject of over a million and a quarter words of floor debate in the longest Senate battle in 15 years, the Senate batted down every one of a dozen amendments offered by opponents.

They contended they were trying to cancel or modify what they termed a giant "giveaway" of federal property over which the Supreme Court has held the federal government holds paramount rights. Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), an opponent, said oil in the lands involved has been estimated by geologists to be worth from 50 to 300 billion dollars.

The bill was defended, on the other hand, as a matter of justice to the states which, proponents said, had assumed for 150 years that they owned the submerged lands within their historic boundaries.

The states with proved offshore oil are California, Texas and Louisiana.

Would Recognize Ownership

The bill would recognize state ownership of all submerged lands within historic state boundaries. Although not spelled out, this has usually been taken to mean three

American Ships Save Hundreds After Crash Of Two Vessels in North Sea; 2 Are Trapped

Harwich, England, May 6 (AP)—Two American ships brought hundreds of passengers to safety today from a British steamer sliced through in a predawn collision with an American transport in the North Sea.

Survivors were landed here and at Dover after a quick transfer of passengers 40 miles off Harwich on England's east coast averted a major sea disaster. But a woman and possibly a child were reported still trapped in the listing steamer.

All of the passengers—most of them British army families returning home from Germany—were from the 4,190-ton Duke of York.

The steamer, bound from the Hook of Holland to Harwich, and the 7,607-ton American transport Haiti Victory rammed into each other near Galloper Light Ship. The Duke of York had 347 passengers aboard and crew of 72, officials said.

The Haiti Victory brought the bulk of the passengers ashore here despite a yawning eight-foot gash in her bows six feet above the water-line. She had the Duke of York in tow for a while but that task was taken over later by tugs at the scene.

The 10,687-ton American-Hawaiian Steamship Company's vessel, The American, took 91 survivors aboard and hurried to Dover with them. Four were reported seriously injured.

Survivors crowded the decks of the Haiti Victory as she came slowly into the harbor at Harwich.

Her damage appeared superficial to that suffered by the Duke of York. Everything forward of the superstructure had disappeared on the Duke of York. Capt. R. B. Adams, her master, and a skeleton crew of 15 remained aboard to work the vessel, which was reported taking some water.

Dirkzwager's Agency in Rotterdam said the steamer radioed: "Have located trapped woman and child. Can you bring heavy rescue gear. Suspect badly injured."

A lifeboat from Walton-on-Naze and a tug from Harwich put to sea. Nearby ships in the North Sea rushed to the scene of the collision, a mile and a half from the Galloper Point Lightship and about 35 miles off the coast.

Because the Haiti Victory was too large to come alongside the Harwich Quay, some of the steamer's passengers were transferred a second time, to the Galloper Point Lightship.

The sea in the area was reported calm, with light, broken clouds overhead.

The collision occurred in darkness, just before dawn. The Duke of York was about 60 miles along in her regular 106-mile run from the Hook of Holland to Harwich. She is operated by the state-owned British Transport Commission.

House Decides Powers Held By Cabinet Are Too Broad

Washington, May 6 (AP) — The House has decided that some of the firing powers held by Democratic cabinet officers are too broad for their Republican successors.

It knocked out of the annual State-Justice-Commerce Department appropriation bill yesterday proposals to extend to the new secretaries of commerce and state the same "absolute discretion" in firing security risk employes that their Democratic predecessors had, and to give it to the attorney general for the first time.

The surprise action was the biggest upset for the Republicans since they took over the House control in January.

Their usually intact lines parted, while the Democratic minority, often split wide open, stuck closer together than on many past votes.

Moneywise, the House sustained to the dollar recommendations of its Appropriations Committee, cutting $326,347,803 from the $1,469,494,515 requested by former President Truman last January.

The $1,143,146,712 approved as the bill was passed 344-5 and sent to the Senate was split up this way:

State Department, $102,744,787; a cut of $48,403,803.

Justice Department, $179,265,000, a cut of $7,885,000.

Commerce Department, $861,136,925, a cut of $270,059,000.

This boosted to more than $1,300,000,000 amounts trimmed by the House on three annual budget bills already passed.

The firing provision that created the fuss was similar to one granted in previous money bills to the secretaries of commerce and state. It would have given them "absolute discretion" to fire employes when they found it necessary "in the interests of the United States."

Democrats claimed the provision wasn't necessary because President Eisenhower has extended to all department heads provisions of a 1950 law allowing them to suspend employes for security reasons.

Some members, including a few Republicans, voiced fears that the power might be used to destroy the protection given federal employes by Civil Service and Veterans' Preference laws.

The American Legion and other veterans' groups opposed the legislation.

Praises Fluoridation

Des Moines, May 6 (AP) — The American Dental Association, says its president-elect, feels the fluoridation of water for control of decay in children's teeth is "the greatest step in preventive dentistry that has occurred during this century." Dr. Leslie M. Fitz-Gerald of Dubuque, Ia., in a speech yesterday before the Iowa State Dental Society convention, added that "scientific studies have shown that fluoridation of water will mean over 60 per cent less decay in children's teeth."

Mayor Asks Session

New York, May 6 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri has asked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for a special session of the Legislature to amend the New York City Transit Authority Act and other recent legislation affecting the city's finances. The mayor, who made the request in a letter last night, called some provisions of the fiscal legislation "unfair and onerous."

Dulles Says U. S. Consults On Appeal to UN for Laos

Secretary Says Allies Are Approached on Matter; Threat Is Noted

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States is consulting with several allies on a possible appeal to the United Nations for action in dealing with the Communist-led invasion of Laos.

Youngstown, O., May 6 (AP)—Journeymen Plumbers' daily pay here went up by one dollar to $24.50 under a new wage contract reported today by Dewey Hubbard, business agent for the AFL Plumbers' Union.

Leggs Mills Span To Be Ready Soon

Loughran Warns Bridge Is Not Suited for Heavy Use Unless Policed

Work on repairs to the Leggs Mills bridge over the Esopus creek is in progress and it will be a few days before traffic may again use the bridge which was damaged when a car struck the structure after skidding on wet pavements recently.

Material for the necessary parts were acquired in the open market and the steel was fabricated at the Ulster County Highway Department garage where the necessary fittings were forged.

Workmen for the highway department were engaged on the job today. County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran said the work would take a few days. Meanwhile the bridge remains closed.

Guard Removed

For some time after opening of the Thruway between Saugerties and Lake Katrine police officials were stationed at the bridge to regulate traffic. These officers were withdrawn some time ago.

At the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors County Superintendent Loughran submitted a request that an appropriation be made available and the sheriff or some police authority be empowered to police the bridge and regulate traffic. No action was taken on the recommendation made to regulate traffic over the narrow bridge.

No Enforcement Now

Traffic coming down the Thruway to Lake Katrine must either cross the Leggs Mills bridge or travel by way of Sawkill. Heavy truck traffic is barred from use of the bridge beyond the legal posted limit. Since the withdrawal of the police officers from the bridge no traffic regulation is enforced and many heavy vehicles have been using the bridge. During the time traffic was regulated no heavy vehicles were permitted to use the bridge and other traffic was regulated by traffic lights operated by the officers.

Gives Warning

The highway department maintains that the old light bridge over the creek cannot handle the expected heavy traffic unless it is regulated. The request for a special appropriation to police the bridge until the Thruway is completed further south, was made by Mr. Loughran to protect the structure which he has said "will be in the creek before the summer ends" if heavy traffic is not regulated.

Might Call Second

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Washington officials speculated today that President Eisenhower, encouraged by reaction to his special conference of state governors, might call a second one before another year is up. Both the President and the governors spoke of hopes for future conferences, but mentioned no dates. There was some guessing also that the President may have helped himself politically. He appeared before the governors twice, had them to lunch, stressed solution of "too long neglected" problems with the states, and won the comment from some state executives, "he spoke our language."

Issue Is Defeated

Poughkeepsie, May 6 (AP)—A proposed $3,097,000 bond issue for a new high school was defeated by the voters yesterday, 5,999 to 1,919. The chief objection seemed to be the site picked for the school, rather than the need to replace the old building, erected in 1914.

President Might Get Tidelands Oil Measure Quickly

Bill Is Passed by Senate 56-35 After Bitter Debate Since April 1

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The bill to give the states title to oil-laden submerged lands off their shores, debated in the Senate for more than a month, may pick up marked speed and wind up within a few days on the desk of President Eisenhower, who has indicated he will sign it.

The measure which the Senate passed 56-35 late yesterday, after an acrimonious debate which started April 1, differs in one major respect and some minor ones from the measure approved earlier by the House.

But efforts were being made to persuade the House Republican leadership that the best course would be for the House to accept the Senate version, rather than risk a new Senate talkfest over a compromise.

No Action Likely

No action was likely today, since the House scheduled only memorial services for members and former members who have died in the last year. But tomorrow, it is likely the House will be asked to accept the Senate measure. If it does so, the bill would go to the White House.

Before approving the bitterly-fought legislation, subject of over a million and a quarter words of floor debate in the longest Senate battle in 15 years, the Senate batted down every one of a dozen amendments offered by opponents.

They contended they were trying to cancel or modify what they termed a giant "giveaway" of federal property over which the Supreme Court has held the federal government holds paramount rights. Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), an opponent, said oil in the lands involved has been estimated by geologists to be worth from 50 to 300 billion dollars.

The bill was defended, on the other hand, as a matter of justice to the states which, proponents said, had assumed for 150 years that they owned the submerged lands within their historic boundaries.

The states with proved offshore oil are California, Texas and Louisiana.

Would Recognize Ownership

The bill would recognize state ownership of all submerged lands within historic state boundaries. Although not spelled out, this has usually been taken to mean three

Hurley District 4 To Send 8th Grade Pupils to Kingston

Reports Given on Sessions Held by School Boards in Four Towns of County

Eighth grade students of Hurley School District No. 4 will attend the Myron J. Michael School in Kingston next fall. It is estimated that about 14 eighth graders will attend the Kingston school.

This change became necessary because of the promotion of an unusually large kindergarten class to the first grade next fall. Approximately 32 kindergarten pupils will enter first grade.

The vote to send the eighth grade students to the MJM School was approximately two to one.

Will Save $740

Strange as it may seem, it was pointed out, there will be an estimated saving of about $740 by the move. The alternate plan had been to hire the town firehouse and engage the services of another teacher for the additional room. The cost of the two systems was advanced and it was stated the cost of sending the eighth grade students to Kingston, together with transportation, would be less than to hire the firehouse and an additional teacher. As a result of adoption of the plan to send the eighth grade students to Kingston the original budget submitted was revised downward with an estimated saving of about $740. The budget as adopted was approximately $42,550.

Jack A. Gill was re-elected trustee and Clifford Miller was elected a trustee to replace Trustee Skerritt. The new officers will assume office on July 1.

Change Trustee System

Changing from the single trustee system to a three trustee system, voters of the Town of Ulster School District No. 8, last evening elected Edward Dingeldey trustee for one year, Reginald Russell for two years and William O'Kelly for a three year term. Arthur Vernooy, who has served the district as trustee declined renomination.

Mrs. Rose P. Peters was re-elected collector-treasurer and Mrs. Elizabeth Maxon was re-elected clerk.

A budget of approximately $65,000 was adopted, the budget being about the same as last year although there has been an increase in tuition for the ensuing school year. This was possible due to a $5,000 note having been included in last year's budget for payment.

Still Study School Plan

A committee appointed some time ago to investigate the proposition of erecting a school in the district to accommodate students who now attend the Kingston schools, was continued after the committee had reported some progress and that the committee was still working on the proposal. Last December the officials of the Town of Ulster District No. 8, sent a proposal to the Kingston board of education asking if the city would take School District No. 8 into the Kingston system. This was done at the request of

PowerShovel, 2 Zoning Bids Are Approved

Common Council action last night approved purchase of a $25,260 power shovel and two zoning changes including one for the belatedly disputed former Cummings property at Washington and Lucas avenues.

Requests of the Civil Service Employes Association for three weeks vacations after five years of employment, and social security status for local civil service employes were left with the laws and rules committee.

A party vote of 9-3 authorized the BPW to buy the new excavating power shovel, and the three Democrats were joined by Fourth Ward Alderman Joseph Wenzel in favoring delay of the Lucas avenue zoning change.

The aldermen voted to put the municipal stadium concession under control of the Common Council instead of the BPW, to exempt from taxation the Foxhall avenue properties recently bought by Kingston Hospital for its expansion program, and to buy 34 new parking meters at a cost not to exceed $69.50.

The law firm of Richter and Werbalowsky filed a claim against the city for Lawrence and Marjorie M. Woerner, 220 Hasbrouck avenue, for injuries which Mrs. Woerner suffered in a fall through an open manhole on the north sidewalk of Hasbrouck avenue below Delaware avenue, April 23.

American Ships Save Hundreds After Crash Of Two Vessels in North Sea; 2 Are Trapped

Harwich, England, May 6 (AP)—Two American ships brought hundreds of passengers to safety today from a British steamer sliced through in a predawn collision with an American transport in the North Sea.

Survivors were landed here and at Dover after a quick transfer of passengers 40 miles off Harwich on England's east coast averted a major sea disaster. But a woman and possibly a child were reported still trapped in the listing steamer.

All of the passengers—most of them British army families returning home from Germany—were from the 4,190-ton Duke of York.

The steamer, bound from the Hook of Holland to Harwich, and the 7,607-ton American transport Haiti Victory rammed into each other near Galloper Light Ship. The Duke of York had 347 passengers aboard and crew of 72, officials said.

The Haiti Victory brought the bulk of the passengers ashore here despite a yawning eight-foot gash in her bows six feet above the water-line. She had the Duke of York in tow for a while but that task was taken over later by tugs at the scene.

The 10,687-ton American-Hawaiian Steamship Company's vessel, The American, took 91 survivors aboard and hurried to Dover with them. Four were reported seriously injured.

Survivors crowded the decks of the Haiti Victory as she came slowly into the harbor at Harwich.

Her damage appeared superficial to that suffered by the Duke of York. Everything forward of the superstructure had disappeared on the Duke of York. Capt. R. B. Adams, her master, and a skeleton crew of 15 remained aboard to work the vessel, which was reported taking some water.

Dirkzwager's Agency in Rotterdam said the steamer radioed: "Have located trapped woman and child. Can you bring heavy rescue gear. Suspect badly injured."

A lifeboat from Walton-on-Naze and a tug from Harwich put to sea. Nearby ships in the North Sea rushed to the scene of the collision, a mile and a half from the Galloper Point Lightship and about 35 miles off the coast.

Because the Haiti Victory was too large to come alongside the Harwich Quay, some of the steamer's passengers were transferred a second time, to the Galloper Point Lightship.

The sea in the area was reported calm, with light, broken clouds overhead.

The collision occurred in darkness, just before dawn. The Duke of York was about 60 miles along in her regular 106-mile run from the Hook of Holland to Harwich. She is operated by the state-owned British Transport Commission.

House Decides Powers Held By Cabinet Are Too Broad

Washington, May 6 (AP) — The House has decided that some of the firing powers held by Democratic cabinet officers are too broad for their Republican successors.

It knocked out of the annual State-Justice-Commerce Department appropriation bill yesterday proposals to extend to the new secretaries of commerce and state the same "absolute discretion" in firing security risk employes that their Democratic predecessors had, and to give it to the attorney general for the first time.

The surprise action was the biggest upset for the Republicans since they took over the House control in January.

Their usually intact lines parted, while the Democratic minority, often split wide open, stuck closer together than on many past votes.

Moneywise, the House sustained to the dollar recommendations of its Appropriations Committee, cutting $326,347,803 from the $1,469,494,515 requested by former President Truman last January.

The $1,143,146,712 approved as the bill was passed 344-5 and sent to the Senate was split up this way:

State Department, $102,744,787; a cut of $48,403,803.

Justice Department, $179,265,000, a cut of $7,885,000.

Commerce Department, $861,136,925, a cut of $270,059,000.

This boosted to more than $1,300,000,000 amounts trimmed by the House on three annual budget bills already passed.

The firing provision that created the fuss was similar to one granted in previous money bills to the secretaries of commerce and state. It would have given them "absolute discretion" to fire employes when they found it necessary "in the interests of the United States."

Democrats claimed the provision wasn't necessary because President Eisenhower has extended to all department heads provisions of a 1950 law allowing them to suspend employes for security reasons.

Some members, including a few Republicans, voiced fears that the power might be used to destroy the protection given federal employes by Civil Service and Veterans' Preference laws.

The American Legion and other veterans' groups opposed the legislation.

Praises Fluoridation

Des Moines, May 6 (AP)—The American Dental Association, says its president-elect, feels the fluoridation of water for control of decay in children's teeth is "the greatest step in preventive dentistry that has occurred during this century." Dr. Leslie M. Fitz-Gerald of Dubuque, Ia., in a speech yesterday before the Iowa State Dental Society convention, added that "scientific studies have shown that fluoridation of water will mean over 60 per cent less decay in children's teeth."

Mayor Asks Session

New York, May 6 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri has asked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for a special session of the Legislature to amend the New York City Transit Authority Act and other recent legislation affecting the city's finances. The mayor, who made the request in a letter last night, called some provisions of the fiscal legislation "unfair and onerous."

Fine Would Be $50,000

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate yesterday a bill to raise from $5,000 to $50,000 the maximum fine for criminal violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law. Rep. Chauncey Reed (R-Ill.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, urged approval of the higher penalty on grounds that a $5,000 fine is today "no deterrent" to violation of the anti-trust laws by large corporations. The bill was authored by Rep. Celler (D-NY).

The federal government would have oil and other mineral rights in the continental shelf, the area running outward from state boundaries to where the ocean floor drops off sharply. In some places, this is as far out as 300 miles.

The House bill provides that the Secretary of the Interior should administer the continental shelf; the Senate version makes no provision for its administration. The Senate plans to handle that issue in separate legislation.

Brand Won't Talk On Spy Question

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Millen Brand, New York author whose books are used for U. S. propaganda purposes, refused today to testify whether he ever engaged in "treasonable activities" or was a Soviet spy.

He pleaded that his answers to such questions "might tend to incriminate" him.

Brand, 47, also refused to tell the Senate investigations subcommittee at a televised public hearing whether he would fight in the Korean war or against Russia if there was war between the Soviet Union and the United States.

But he insisted stoutly that he is "a good, loyal citizen"—in the face of a thundered accusation by Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) that such an answer was sheer "gall."

One of Final Witnesses

Brand was called before the subcommittee as one of its final witnesses in an investigation of charges by chairman McCarthy (R-Wis.) that Communist subversion has hurt the government's overseas library program, part of the cold war propaganda effort.

The group is digging into why the works of known and suspected Communist writers were used in the libraries, which are designed to refute Soviet propaganda by providing easy access to books giving a true picture of American life and ways.

Service Is May 20

A special program for the children of the religious school is scheduled for May 20 as the opening program in the celebration of the 100th anniversary of Temple Emanuel in Kingston. The date was previously listed as May 17. The celebration also will be in the nature of a double commemoration for Rabbi Herbert Bloom's 20th year with the local congregation and 25th year in the rabbinate.

News Protection Bill to Receive Review in House

Washington, May 6 (AP)—A bill to give newsmen limited protection for their information sources in federal cases today was assured consideration by the House Judiciary Committee.

Chairman Chauncey Reed (R.-Ill.) told reporters the bill, introduced yesterday by Rep. Heller (D.-N. Y.), will be assigned promptly to a subcommittee.

"It certainly is worth some study," he said. "I'm not sure we should go as far as this bill proposes but the reporters' situation merits attention."

The bill would exempt reporters from being required to reveal their news sources generally in federal courts, before federal grand juries or to congressional committees. It would apply to those actually gathering news for publications, news services, radio and television broadcast.

Would Provide Exceptions

However, it would provide for exceptions to the protection whenever a federal court rules that disclosure of sources "is necessary in the interests of national security, or to avoid the concealment of a crime, or to enable the defendant to make his defense."

"Congress can prove its faith and trust in the American press," Heller said, by passing this bill. "It can reiterate its belief in freedom of the press, and it can voice its confidence in newspapermen and in their code of ethics."

"Newspapermen are not asking for protection based on mere relevance or pertinance of material," he continued. "They want a specific safeguard which will give them the necessary protection of the law. They want official recognition of a traditional privilege which will strengthen the freedom of the press in this country."

Fine Would Be $50,000

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate yesterday a bill to raise from $5,000 to $50,000 the maximum fine for criminal violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law. Rep. Chauncey Reed (R-Ill.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, urged approval of the higher penalty on grounds that a $5,000 fine is today "no deterrent" to violation of the anti-trust laws by large corporations. The bill was authored by Rep. Celler (D-NY).

PEACE AGREEMENTS BY REDS

In spite of their determined barrage of peace talk, the Russians have not done one concrete thing which shows they really mean business.

Their answer to President Eisenhower's "peace" speech—that they are ready for "serious, businesslike" discussion of the great issues—is on the surface conciliatory in tone. Still, the proofs so far are lacking.

In Korea, the Communists have released to us 684 UN soldiers held prisoner, including 149 Americans. Because we value individual life highly, we are grateful we can reclaim even these few men from the wreckage of war.

But, measured against the large backdrop of that conflict, the number is small. Against the canvas of the world struggle it is infinitesimal. Viewed coldly, it means the Reds have given up some men who can do us little good militarily and were simply costing them money and material to keep them imprisoned.

We may gain more in the weeks ahead. The revived truce talks in Panmunjom have not started happily. Red proposals for exchange of able-bodied prisoners seem unreasonable. Nevertheless, Moscow and Peiping may soften their position as talks go on.

Beyond that, the deeds both sides wish to see as proof of earnest intent will come much harder. The President talked of a general Far Eastern settlement, signatures on an Austrian treaty, free elections for a unified Germany, real disarmament and world-wide economic reconstruction.

But to make genuine headway on almost any of these matters would demand from the Soviet Union sharp departure from the fundamental course of conquest it has long pursued. Indeed, it would require abandoning practices inherent in a police-state dictatorship. Chances for such changes are not bright.

SAME OLD PATTERN

Since the end of World War II the Russian pattern of aggression has not changed. Russia never allows herself to be drawn into actual fighting but cleverly manipulates others into doing the fighting for her. That has been the case in Korea, the Philippines, Indo-China and other parts of the world.

When the Kremlin began its recent talk of a desire for peace there was much speculation as to what it meant. In parts of Asia the answer seems to be taking shape and there seems to be no change in the old pattern. The fighting in Indo-China has grown more intense, the tiny country of Laos, a unit of the French Union, is the most recent victim of indirect Russian aggression.

The men fighting the French in Laos are not Russians, but they are Communists who answer the beck and call of the Kremlin. So long as Communists anywhere in the world cause war and unrest, talk of peace from Moscow is mere idle conversation. If the Russian leaders are sincere let them prove it by calling off their front men. Until they do, talk of peace is a mockery.

A number of political prisoners were recently freed in Russia. Apparently space had to be made available for new ones.

RUBBER AND MALAYA

The British colony of Malay faces a serious threat to its economy. Malaya depends for its income of dollars almost solely on the production and export of rubber. Rubber provides the biggest source of dollars of any item in any of the sterling bloc countries.

Malayan rubber is facing serious competition from the manufacture of synthetic rubber in the United States. Experts predict an economic crisis in Malaya within six months unless something is done.

Russia is eager to get its hands on Malayan rubber for two reasons. They need the rubber badly and if they could establish trade relations with Malaya, as they have with Ceylon and Burma, it would mean a foot inside the door.

The problem will not be easy to solve. But an answer will have to be found soon or we will run the risk of having the Russians gain the rubber they need so badly for their war machinery and at the same time weaken the ties Malaya has with the West.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

JOWITT ON HISS

I have delayed commenting on the Earl of Jowitt's book on Alger Hiss out of courtesy to the American publishers, although I have had the British edition for some time. However, "Publishers' Weekly," for April 25, contained the following paragraph which requires considerable correction:

"An anaylsis of the entire Hiss-Chambers case by a distinguished English jurist who has made a detailed study of the many volumes containing the transcript of the trial and of other background sources. Although he has weighed the evidence with legal impartiality, the implication is clear that there is more than 'reasonable doubt' as to Alger Hiss' guilt. A controversial book that will undoubtedly get wide attention in the press."

The editor of "Publishers' Weekly" may not know it, but Alger Hiss had two trials, plus a motion for rehearing, plus appeals to appellate courts, including the Supreme Court of the United States, which rejected his appeals twice. Added to this were the initial hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

The Earl of Jowitt does not contend, in the English edition of his book, that he has read all of the material. He states that he has read a full transcript of the second trial; he has apparently read "A Generation on Trial," by Alistair Cooke, "Seeds of Treason," by De Toledano and Lasky, and "Witness," by Whittaker Chambers. There is no evidence in his book that he has done any other reading on the subject.

Jowitt did not come to the United States to study the Hiss case. He displays little or no knowledge of the events that led up to the case. He is a lawyer, reading a transcript of a trial and three books, who sets himself up as superior to the courts of this country, including the Supreme Court of the United States.

This blurb in "Publishers' Weekly" gives the impression that Jowitt "weighed the evidence with legal impartiality," but Jowitt's book establishes the contrary view. Jowitt states on pages 50-51 of the British edition:

"Of course, the evidence of character does not prove that the accused did not commit the crime; but it does go to show that he belongs to a category of people who are not likely to commit dishonourable or discreditable acts. . . . Is it to be seriously suggested that the burden of proof should be precisely the same in the case of a man of proved integrity as it would be in the case of an unmitigated rascal?"

In the American theory of jurisprudence, all men are equal in the eyes of the law. We have no aristocracy. We have no peerage. Jowitt is a Socialist earl, made such by the Labour government. A Socialist becomes a peer and he separates human beings into those of "proved integrity" and those who are "unmitigated rascals." If the man of "proved integrity" commits murder, is the dead person less dead because a well-bred hand pierced his skin with a refined dagger? How long does it take a Socialist to become a snob?

I am not supposed to review Jowitt's book on Hiss until May 21, when the American edition appears. Then I shall, point by point, call attention to the factual errors which are unbelievable in a man who has been Lord Chancellor in England, unless I take my politics from Gilbert and Sullivan.

Jowitt says in his Preface to the British edition: ". . . The law is a conservative profession, and any lawyer tends to be prejudiced in favour of a system with which he is familiar; yet it is wholesome for him to study the workings of a different system. If, from time to time, I seem to criticise, I sincerely hope that my criticisms will not be resented and will not be considered impertinent. . . ."

Of course, the Earl of Jowitt is privileged to criticize our courts and our judicial procedures. Anybody can do that, but as a jurist he should have read the whole record—every word of the record.

He said ". . . when I was still Lord Chancellor, I had sent to me the full transcript of the second trial of Alger Hiss, which resulted in his conviction for perjury." Whom did he have send him the record? Did he ask the Department of Justice for it? Who sent him the transcript of the second but not of the first trial? Who is his expert on American affairs?

GALLSTONES AND GALLSTONE COLIC

One of the light sayings around the medical profession is, "The patient has had all his teeth removed but still has his rheumatism." What is overlooked is that during the removal of the teeth, small blood vessels about the teeth and gums were cut or torn open and, of course, the poison about the teeth entered these "open" blood vessels and was carried to the rheumatic or arthritic joint.

Another saying is, "The patient has had his gallstones and gall bladder removed, but still has his pain in the region of gall bladder." Why?

In Postgraduate Medicine, some months ago, Dr. Richard B. C. Cattell, Lahey Clinic, Boston, stated:

"Operation on the gall bladder and the bile ducts when performed for patients with colic due to gallstones, with or without jaundice, is followed by a very high percentage of satisfactory results. In the presence of dyspeptic symptoms without colic, particularly in those patients without gallstones, the results are by no means satisfactory, being no better than 50 to 60 per cent."

As gall bladder operations are among the most common in abdominal conditions, Dr. Cattell states that the good results are largely dependent upon the care with which patients are selected for operation, to make sure that removal of the gall bladder will give the needed and expected relief. By studying these cases fully, with the help of the X-ray and fluoroscope; it may be that other conditions than gallstones may be causing symptoms greatly resembling gallstone symptoms.

"In other words, the gall bladder may be removed for stones and stones may be removed from the common duct and yet within a relatively short time the patient will have the same symptoms that were present before, because an overlooked condition at lower end of common bile duct—fibrosis of the sphincter of Oddi may be present." This sphincter or opening from the gall bladder has its "elastic" fibers, replaced by hard fibrous tissue, preventing proper emptying of the gall bladder. This may cause thickening of bile and formation of gallstones.

The commonest conditions that may have symptoms affecting digestion as with gallstone are nervous or emotional effects, peptic ulcer, and spastic or irritable colon.

We should remember that after middle age, gallstones are very common, more than half may have them, but only a small percentage of these require operation.

However, in general, it is only where there are stones present and attacks of colic occur that operation is usually performed. Of course, even with first attack, an emergency operation may be found necessary.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The greatest accomplishment of the Eisenhower administration on the domestic front in its first 100 days in office has been removal of all price and wage controls.

The timing on this move was just right. Meat prices were already below ceilings. Other food prices normally drop in the spring.

On the industrial front, supplies of materials had been built up to meet increased demands of the Korean war. The national economy had been adjusted to the new, higher production level.

On the wage front, the more troublesome industrial disputes had been settled. So everything was right for lifting the lid. Contrary to some dire predictions, there have been no ill effects—yet.

Rent controls have been scheduled to end July 31. At the turn of the first 100 days the Congress was still in a sweat over continuing stand-by controls for use in case a new inflationary emergency arises.

The administration still has to meet its first test on handling a major labor dispute. That may come in the steel industry.

Both AFL and CIO have announced their intent to seek new wage increases as contracts come up for renewal. In the case of the CIO, this may be extended to include demands for a guaranteed annual wage.

Stabilization of living costs might serve to cut the ground from under any such demands. If it does, the business leaders who have given such strong support to the Republican administration can consider it a victory.

But aside from this achievement of removing economic controls, the Eisenhower administration in its first 100 days has barely made a beginning at sketching in the outline of its domestic program. Among the starts that have been made, these stand out prominently:

Budget Cuts Are First

A genuine effort to cut government expense and balance the budget. President Eisenhower estimates the Truman-prepared budget of 72 billion, nine-hundred million dollars in new funds requested for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954, can be cut by 8½ billion dollars. But this is not a final figure because the budget revision has not been completed. The President says flatly that the cash or spending budget for next year cannot possibly be balanced, even with this cut.

A first feeler at deflation through refinancing the national debt on a long-term basis. This has been done through the successful experiment of a billion-dollar, 3¼ per cent bond issue.

Two cautious moves toward a new farm policy. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson refused to support meat prices when they started skidding. But he continued dairy supports for a year to give that industry time to work out a new policy of its own.

Six federal government reorganization plans. Making a cabinet-rank Department of Health, Education and Welfare out of the Federal Security Agency and reorganization of Department of Agriculture are along lines outlined by previous administrations. Plan No. 3 combined Office of Defense Mobilization and National Security Resources Board. Reorganization of Justice, State and Defense Department are on the fire.

Near completion of top staff appointments. The Eisenhower administration has been slow in this recruitment. The effort has been complicated by a number of fumbles in firing career civil servants to make way for Republican blood and brains.

Revised personnel policies to reduce government employment. Killing Office of Price Stabilization and Wage Stabilization Board returned $1,500,000 to the Treasury. Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge orderd no new hiring after Feb. 3. Defense Secretary C. C. Wilson ordered a 39,000 personnel cut by the end of May.

A new loyalty and security program has been announced, intended to weed subversives and criminals from government. But it will take some months to put into effect and test fully.

Ike Leans on Own Study Group

There are civilian commissions, committees and study groups hatching plans all over Washington. President Eisenhower seems to depend on them heavily. Among his creations are a reorganization committee, a temporary farm advisory commission, National Security Council advisers, psychological welfare advisory committee, a commission to survey resources and another on foreign trade.

The President has also asked Congress to authorize a commission to study federal-state relationships. Departmentally, there are committees to study Defense Department reorganization and to resurvey the Bureau of Standards. A Department of Labor advisory committee, supposed to shape new labor policy for the administration, broke up in confusion in its first meeting and has been abandoned.

But it will take months for all study clubs to make their reports and get the Eisenhower administrations policies in shape to identify as a definite program.

In the meantime, the number-one riddle of the new administration is how far it will go in carrying out Republican campaign promises and campaign hopes to get the government out of business, end the so-called trend towards socialism and put the country back on the road towards an economy dedicated to, and dominated by, the free enterprise system.

The decision to liquidate the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and sell the government-built and government-owned synthetic rubber plants are first steps in this direction. Returning the tidelands from federal to state government control is another.

But how far will this go? And will it become what critics of the administration now call a gigantic give-away of the public domain?

Only the answers to these questions in due time will disclose the real nature of the Eisenhower domestic program.

There are signs now that in settling these policies, sharp differences between President Eisenhower's thinking and the opinions of a majority of the congressmen will have to be resolved.

Judge Youngdahl's Fitness to Try Lattimore Case Questioned Because of Opinions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 6 — When U. S. District Judge Luther Youngdahl—the former governor of Minnesota who was appointed by President Truman in a political maneuver that caused quite a flurry in Republican ranks in the northwest—threw out four of seven counts in the indictment against Owen Lattimore, quite a lot of curosity and puzzlement was aroused in legal circles here. For the judge was not content to dismiss the four counts but in his written opinion said there was "serious doubt in the court's mind whether any count in this indictment can finally pass the test of materiality."

The curiosity arises because it is being asked: How can a federal judge who expressed doubt about the three remaining counts in an indictment give a fair trial to the government of the United States in prosecuting the case when he has already prejudged the issues? Wouldn't a juror be disqualified if he expressed publicly such doubts before a trial took place?

There is some question also as to whether Judge Youngdahl has as yet been finally assigned to the Lattimore case for trial but, if he has been, then it would not be surprising if the government asked that another judge be assigned in view of this prejudgment.

Judge Youngdahl's opinion arouses puzzlement not because of the things he said but the things he apparently omitted to say or to take into account in his formal opinion.

Thus, although it wasn't necessary for Judge Youngdahl to do so to make his point, he declared that the Tydings Committee of the Senate had investigated the charges against Owen Lattimore and "concluded there was no foundation to the charges against him." One would have thought in all fairness that the judge would have taken cognizance of the investigation made by a second Senate Committee under the chairmanship of Senator McCarran of Nevada, which also investigated the same charges and spent an even longer time doing it and then came up with the conclusion that Owen Lattimore was "a conscious, articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy in the United States." To state the conclusion of one committee and omit the conclusion of the other committee is to cause more puzzlement.

The only reference that Judge Youngdahl makes to the McCarran Committee report is to say that "apparently the committee could discover no evidence from its investigation of the testimony of the various witnesses that defendant lied in denying that he was a Communist, a member of the Communist party, a Soviet spy or a fellow traveller."

Here is an attempt by the judge to evaluate the Senate's committee work and yet, so far as conclusions are concerned, he apparently ignores the fact that the Senate committee did ask the Depart of Justice to submit the perjury charges to a federal grand jury and did point to specific contradictions which, in its judgment, merited attention. Is it the duty of a Senate committee to submit all its evidence of alleged perjury before the trial begins or is it the duty of the Department of Justice to do so during the trial itself?

Judge Youngdahl did says, with reference to the three counts that remained for trial, that "the question of materiality, like the question of pertinency, is a question of law for the court to decide when the government's evidence is in or at the conclusion of all the testimony."

But if that's to be the procedure, then why did Judge Youngdahl feel it necessary, even without hearing any evidence, to cast doubt on the counts in the indictment left to be tried? This and other questions are being asked as the case is being discussed among lawyers here, some of whom say the Youngdahl decision is quite unprecedented.

Another cause for puzzlement is Judge Youngdahl's comments as he dismissed the first—and what is considered by all sides as the most important—count in the indictment. He said:

"Under this count, the defendant is charged with lying in denying that he had never been a sympathizer or promoter of communism or Communist interests."

The judge added that "sympathies and beliefs and what they mean to different individuals involve concepts that are highly nebulous and speculative at best" and that a jury should not be asked "to determine an issue which can be decided only on conjecture."

But, strangely enough, Judge Youngdahl did not take into consideration the possibility that a man could be a "promoter" and do physical acts of "promotion" which would be overt and not just within his own mind. It is susceptible of proof whether a man's activities show that he is or is not a deliberate promoter of certain beliefs or causes. The Communist line in America for several years now has argued that communism is a mere matter of political belief. Actually mere belief in anything by one individual is not unlawful by itself but when combined with what Justice Jackson of the Supreme Court of the United States has described as "guilt by association," individual acts become more pertinent, especially if they indicate a "conspiracy" to overthrow the government by violence.

But the case here does not turn on whether the accused is a believer in any doctrine as such but whether he told the truth when he said that his activities did not constitute a promotion of a particular cause. Surely a jury could decide that, without probing into a man's mind, but by considering only the testimony of witnesses to overt acts if competent witnesses can be produced.

There were minor points on which the judge dismissed one of the other counts. Thus he said that, because the government used the word "Communist party" instead of "Communist authorities," he felt obliged to find that count fatally defective. The issue was whether Lattimore lied when he denied that, in order to get into Yenan on a trip to the Far East, he had made "prearrangements with the Communist party." This defect can be cured by a new indictment using the word "authorities."

The likelihood, however, is that the Department of Justice will appeal every one of the four counts which Judge Youngdahl threw out. It is hardly probable that there will be a trial on the three counts remaining until after the U. S. Court of Appeals or possibly the Supreme Court of the United States shall have ruled on the Youngdahl decision.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New Orleans, May 5—A great surge of enterprise and power, a mighty shift of business from the north to the south, is transforming the old, traditional southern tier of states from the Dixie which was long content to be picturesque and put-upon by the Yankees into a new industrial region.

The war industries and the military works which were set up in the south certainly left permanent physical assets on the ground. In this respect, and to an indefinite extent, a portion of the war debt may be counted as a profitable investment by the whole nation, and not as a lost economic cost of war.

The war did arouse the United States to the greatest industrial effort in the history of the world. And the same exertion continued with little slackening after VJ-Day, nothwithstanding the efforts of Walter Reuther, Phil Murray and the CIO generally at that time heavily infested with Red traitors and hospitable to them, to prevent orderly conversion.

But the physical plant of the new industrial south, best seen from the air in New Orleans, Shreveport, Fort Worth, Dallas, El Paso and the two principal cities of Arizona, Phoenix and Tucson, is not the only measure of the change.

I worked in Dallas in 1915 handling copy which was trickling in from press-camp at the head of General Pershing's cavalry column. The censor was a cavalry captain named George Patton, and the pilot who flew the first dispatches ever delivered by air was a lieutenant named Benny Foulois who later became chief of air and made the mistake of assuring Franklin D. Roosevelt that the air force could fly the mails. Twelve young pilots were killed proving that they weren't up to it.

In 1915, Dallas and Fort Worth were ugly dusty trading posts of an area which was just beginning to turn from cotton to oil. Oklahoma was a primitive muddy frontier whose capitol, then Guthrie, had been blown up by the explosion of an oil tanker on a Sante Fe siding.

The six-gun still was influential in social matters as my immediate predecessor in the UP's Dallas Bureau learned on his first day in town. He went to the barber to get freshed up and as he lay back with his eyes dreamily shut he heard a shot. He popped them open to see his barber dead on the floor. It appeared that the barber had been messing with the other man's folks. The incident caused no great commotion.

Forth Worth and Dallas now are huge modern cities whose very atmosphere or tempo, some impalpable thing about them, proclaims power. In 1943, great airplane factories were pushing out ships and miscellaneous other activities were humming, and the growth in commerce and population continues.

The oil towns stretching west to the Pecos atop the fabulous Permian Basin around Odessa are rich and busy. Wages are high and the new houses of the whole area are, on the average, the best that an equal number of industrial employes ever lived in. They may be small but each one is a home on its own lot, with its washing machine, refrigerator, modern plumbing and cheap automatic heat.

The vast expansion of manufacturing is seen in the big buildings, shrewdly located on the motor highways where enormous boxcars roll night and day and in the

PEACE AGREEMENTS BY REDS

In spite of their determined barrage of peace talk, the Russians have not done one concrete thing which shows they really mean business.

Their answer to President Eisenhower's "peace" speech—that they are ready for "serious, businesslike" discussion of the great issues—is on the surface conciliatory in tone. Still, the proofs so far are lacking.

In Korea, the Communists have released to us 684 UN soldiers held prisoner, including 149 Americans. Because we value individual life highly, we are grateful we can reclaim even these few men from the wreckage of war.

But, measured against the large backdrop of that conflict, the number is small. Against the canvas of the world struggle it is infinitesimal. Viewed coldly, it means the Reds have given up some men who can do us little good militarily and were simply costing them money and material to keep them imprisoned.

We may gain more in the weeks ahead. The revived truce talks in Panmunjom have not started happily. Red proposals for exchange of able-bodied prisoners seem unreasonable. Nevertheless, Moscow and Peiping may soften their position as talks go on.

Beyond that, the deeds both sides wish to see as proof of earnest intent will come much harder. The President talked of a general Far Eastern settlement, signatures on an Austrian treaty, free elections for a unified Germany, real disarmament and world-wide economic reconstruction.

But to make genuine headway on almost any of these matters would demand from the Soviet Union sharp departure from the fundamental course of conquest it has long pursued. Indeed, it would require abandoning practices inherent in a police-state dictatorship. Chances for such changes are not bright.

SAME OLD PATTERN

Since the end of World War II the Russian pattern of aggression has not changed. Russia never allows herself to be drawn into actual fighting but cleverly manipulates others into doing the fighting for her. That has been the case in Korea, the Philippines, Indo-China and other parts of the world.

When the Kremlin began its recent talk of a desire for peace there was much speculation as to what it meant. In parts of Asia the answer seems to be taking shape and there seems to be no change in the old pattern. The fighting in Indo-China has grown more intense, the tiny country of Laos, a unit of the French Union, is the most recent victim of indirect Russian aggression.

The men fighting the French in Laos are not Russians, but they are Communists who answer the beck and call of the Kremlin. So long as Communists anywhere in the world cause war and unrest, talk of peace from Moscow is mere idle conversation. If the Russian leaders are sincere let them prove it by calling off their front men. Until they do, talk of peace is a mockery.

A number of political prisoners were recently freed in Russia. Apparently space had to be made available for new ones.

RUBBER AND MALAYA

The British colony of Malay faces a serious threat to its economy. Malaya depends for its income of dollars almost solely on the production and export of rubber. Rubber provides the biggest source of dollars of any item in any of the sterling bloc countries.

Malayan rubber is facing serious competition from the manufacture of synthetic rubber in the United States. Experts predict an economic crisis in Malaya within six months unless something is done.

Russia is eager to get its hands on Malayan rubber for two reasons. They need the rubber badly and if they could establish trade relations with Malaya, as they have with Ceylon and Burma, it would mean a foot inside the door.

The problem will not be easy to solve. But an answer will have to be found soon or we will run the risk of having the Russians gain the rubber they need so badly for their war machinery and at the same time weaken the ties Malaya has with the West.

JOWITT ON HISS

I have delayed commenting on the Earl of Jowitt's book on Alger Hiss out of courtesy to the American publishers, although I have had the British edition for some time. However, "Publishers' Weekly," for April 25, contained the following paragraph which requires considerable correction:

"An anaylsis of the entire Hiss-Chambers case by a distinguished English jurist who has made a detailed study of the many volumes containing the transcript of the trial and of other background sources. Although he has weighed the evidence with legal impartiality, the implication is clear that there is more than 'reasonable doubt' as to Alger Hiss' guilt. A controversial book that will undoubtedly get wide attention in the press."

The editor of "Publishers' Weekly" may not know it, but Alger Hiss had two trials, plus a motion for rehearing, plus appeals to appellate courts, including the Supreme Court of the United States, which rejected his appeals twice. Added to this were the initial hearings before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

The Earl of Jowitt does not contend, in the English edition of his book, that he has read all of the material. He states that he has read a full transcript of the second trial; he has apparently read "A Generation on Trial," by Alistair Cooke, "Seeds of Treason," by De Toledano and Lasky, and "Witness," by Whittaker Chambers. There is no evidence in his book that he has done any other reading on the subject.

Jowitt did not come to the United States to study the Hiss case. He displays little or no knowledge of the events that led up to the case. He is a lawyer, reading a transcript of a trial and three books, who sets himself up as superior to the courts of this country, including the Supreme Court of the United States.

This blurb in "Publishers' Weekly" gives the impression that Jowitt "weighed the evidence with legal impartiality," but Jowitt's book establishes the contrary view. Jowitt states on pages 50-51 of the British edition:

"Of course, the evidence of character does not prove that the accused did not commit the crime; but it does go to show that he belongs to a category of people who are not likely to commit dishonourable or discreditable acts. . . . Is it to be seriously suggested that the burden of proof should be precisely the same in the case of a man of proved integrity as it would be in the case of an unmitigated rascal?"

In the American theory of jurisprudence, all men are equal in the eyes of the law. We have no aristocracy. We have no peerage. Jowitt is a Socialist earl, made such by the Labour government. A Socialist becomes a peer and he separates human beings into those of "proved integrity" and those who are "unmitigated rascals." If the man of "proved integrity" commits murder, is the dead person less dead because a well-bred hand pierced his skin with a refined dagger? How long does it take a Socialist to become a snob?

I am not supposed to review Jowitt's book on Hiss until May 21, when the American edition appears. Then I shall, point by point, call attention to the factual errors which are unbelievable in a man who has been Lord Chancellor in England, unless I take my politics from Gilbert and Sullivan.

Jowitt says in his Preface to the British edition: ". . . The law is a conservative profession, and any lawyer tends to be prejudiced in favour of a system with which he is familiar; yet it is wholesome for him to study the workings of a different system. If, from time to time, I seem to criticise, I sincerely hope that my criticisms will not be resented and will not be considered impertinent. . . ."

Of course, the Earl of Jowitt is privileged to criticize our courts and our judicial procedures. Anybody can do that, but as a jurist he should have read the whole record—every word of the record.

He said ". . . when I was still Lord Chancellor, I had sent to me the full transcript of the second trial of Alger Hiss, which resulted in his conviction for perjury." Whom did he have send him the record? Did he ask the Department of Justice for it? Who sent him the transcript of the second but not of the first trial? Who is his expert on American affairs?

Washington (NEA)—The greatest accomplishment of the Eisenhower administration on the domestic front in its first 100 days in office has been removal of all price and wage controls.

The timing on this move was just right. Meat prices were already below ceilings. Other food prices normally drop in the spring.

On the industrial front, supplies of materials had been built up to meet increased demands of the Korean war. The national economy had been adjusted to the new, higher production level.

On the wage front, the more troublesome industrial disputes had been settled. So everything was right for lifting the lid. Contrary to some dire predictions, there have been no ill effects—yet.

Rent controls have been scheduled to end July 31. At the turn of the first 100 days the Congress was still in a sweat over continuing stand-by controls for use in case a new inflationary emergency arises.

The administration still has to meet its first test on handling a major labor dispute. That may come in the steel industry.

Both AFL and CIO have announced their intent to seek new wage increases as contracts come up for renewal. In the case of the CIO, this may be extended to include demands for a guaranteed annual wage.

Stabilization of living costs might serve to cut the ground from under any such demands. If it does, the business leaders who have given such strong support to the Republican administration can consider it a victory.

But aside from this achievement of removing economic controls, the Eisenhower administration in its first 100 days has barely made a beginning at sketching in the outline of its domestic program. Among the starts that have been made, these stand out prominently:

Budget Cuts Are First

A genuine effort to cut government expense and balance the budget. President Eisenhower estimates the Truman-prepared budget of 72 billion, nine-hundred million dollars in new funds requested for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954, can be cut by 8½ billion dollars. But this is not a final figure because the budget revision has not been completed. The President says flatly that the cash or spending budget for next year cannot possibly be balanced, even with this cut.

A first feeler at deflation through refinancing the national debt on a long-term basis. This has been done through the successful experiment of a billion-dollar, 3¼ per cent bond issue.

Two cautious moves toward a new farm policy. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson refused to support meat prices when they started skidding. But he continued dairy supports for a year to give that industry time to work out a new policy of its own.

Six federal government reorganization plans. Making a cabinet-rank Department of Health, Education and Welfare out of the Federal Security Agency and reorganization of Department of Agriculture are along lines outlined by previous administrations. Plan No. 3 combined Office of Defense Mobilization and National Security Resources Board. Reorganization of Justice, State and Defense Department are on the fire.

Near completion of top staff appointments. The Eisenhower administration has been slow in this recruitment. The effort has been complicated by a number of fumbles in firing career civil servants to make way for Republican blood and brains.

Revised personnel policies to reduce government employment. Killing Office of Price Stabilization and Wage Stabilization Board returned $1,500,000 to the Treasury. Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge orderd no new hiring after Feb. 3. Defense Secretary C. C. Wilson ordered a 39,000 personnel cut by the end of May.

A new loyalty and security program has been announced, intended to weed subversives and criminals from government. But it will take some months to put into effect and test fully.

Ike Leans on Own Study Group

There are civilian commissions, committees and study groups hatching plans all over Washington. President Eisenhower seems to depend on them heavily. Among his creations are a reorganization committee, a temporary farm advisory commission, National Security Council advisers, psychological welfare advisory committee, a commission to survey resources and another on foreign trade.

The President has also asked Congress to authorize a commission to study federal-state relationships. Departmentally, there are committees to study Defense Department reorganization and to resurvey the Bureau of Standards. A Department of Labor advisory committee, supposed to shape new labor policy for the administration, broke up in confusion in its first meeting and has been abandoned.

But it will take months for all study clubs to make their reports and get the Eisenhower administrations policies in shape to identify as a definite program.

In the meantime, the number-one riddle of the new administration is how far it will go in carrying out Republican campaign promises and campaign hopes to get the government out of business, end the so-called trend towards socialism and put the country back on the road towards an economy dedicated to, and dominated by, the free enterprise system.

The decision to liquidate the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and sell the government-built and government-owned synthetic rubber plants are first steps in this direction. Returning the tidelands from federal to state government control is another.

But how far will this go? And will it become what critics of the administration now call a gigantic give-away of the public domain?

Only the answers to these questions in due time will disclose the real nature of the Eisenhower domestic program.

There are signs now that in settling these policies, sharp differences between President Eisenhower's thinking and the opinions of a majority of the congressmen will have to be resolved.

Judge Youngdahl's Fitness to Try Lattimore Case Questioned Because of Opinions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 6 — When U. S. District Judge Luther Youngdahl—the former governor of Minnesota who was appointed by President Truman in a political maneuver that caused quite a flurry in Republican ranks in the northwest—threw out four of seven counts in the indictment against Owen Lattimore, quite a lot of curosity and puzzlement was aroused in legal circles here. For the judge was not content to dismiss the four counts but in his written opinion said there was "serious doubt in the court's mind whether any count in this indictment can finally pass the test of materiality."

The curiosity arises because it is being asked: How can a federal judge who expressed doubt about the three remaining counts in an indictment give a fair trial to the government of the United States in prosecuting the case when he has already prejudged the issues? Wouldn't a juror be disqualified if he expressed publicly such doubts before a trial took place?

There is some question also as to whether Judge Youngdahl has as yet been finally assigned to the Lattimore case for trial but, if he has been, then it would not be surprising if the government asked that another judge be assigned in view of this prejudgment.

Judge Youngdahl's opinion arouses puzzlement not because of the things he said but the things he apparently omitted to say or to take into account in his formal opinion.

Thus, although it wasn't necessary for Judge Youngdahl to do so to make his point, he declared that the Tydings Committee of the Senate had investigated the charges against Owen Lattimore and "concluded there was no foundation to the charges against him." One would have thought in all fairness that the judge would have taken cognizance of the investigation made by a second Senate Committee under the chairmanship of Senator McCarran of Nevada, which also investigated the same charges and spent an even longer time doing it and then came up with the conclusion that Owen Lattimore was "a conscious, articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy in the United States." To state the conclusion of one committee and omit the conclusion of the other committee is to cause more puzzlement.

The only reference that Judge Youngdahl makes to the McCarran Committee report is to say that "apparently the committee could discover no evidence from its investigation of the testimony of the various witnesses that defendant lied in denying that he was a Communist, a member of the Communist party, a Soviet spy or a fellow traveller."

Here is an attempt by the judge to evaluate the Senate's committee work and yet, so far as conclusions are concerned, he apparently ignores the fact that the Senate committee did ask the Department of Justice to submit the perjury charges to a federal grand jury and did point to specific contradictions which, in its judgment, merited attention. Is it the duty of a Senate committee to submit all its evidence of alleged perjury before the trial begins or is it the duty of the Department of Justice to do so during the trial itself?

Judge Youngdahl did says, with reference to the three counts that remained for trial, that "the question of materiality, like the question of pertinency, is a question of law for the court to decide when the government's evidence is in or at the conclusion of all the testimony."

But if that's to be the procedure, then why did Judge Youngdahl feel it necessary, even without hearing any evidence, to cast doubt on the counts in the indictment left to be tried? This and other questions are being asked as the case is being discussed among lawyers here, some of whom say the Youngdahl decision is quite unprecedented.

Another cause for puzzlement is Judge Youngdahl's comments as he dismissed the first—and what is considered by all sides as the most important—count in the indictment. He said:

"Under this count, the defendant is charged with lying in denying that he had never been a sympathizer or promoter of communism or Communist interests."

The judge added that "sympathies and beliefs and what they mean to different individuals involve concepts that are highly nebulous and speculative at best" and that a jury should not be asked "to determine an issue which can be decided only on conjecture."

But, strangely enough, Judge Youngdahl did not take into consideration the possibility that a man could be a "promoter" and do physical acts of "promotion" which would be overt and not just within his own mind. It is susceptible of proof whether a man's activities show that he is or is not a deliberate promoter of certain beliefs or causes. The Communist line in America for several years now has argued that communism is a mere matter of political belief. Actually mere belief in anything by one individual is not unlawful by itself but when combined with what Justice Jackson of the Supreme Court of the United States has described as "guilt by association," individual acts become more pertinent, especially if they indicate a "conspiracy" to overthrow the government by violence.

But the case here does not turn on whether the accused is a believer in any doctrine as such but whether he told the truth when he said that his activities did not constitute a promotion of a particular cause. Surely a jury could decide that, without probing into a man's mind, but by considering only the testimony of witnesses to overt acts if competent witnesses can be produced.

There were minor points on which the judge dismissed one of the other counts. Thus he said that, because the government used the word "Communist party" instead of "Communist authorities," he felt obliged to find that count fatally defective. The issue was whether Lattimore lied when he denied that, in order to get into Yenan on a trip to the Far East, he had made "prearrangements with the Communist party." This defect can be cured by a new indictment using the word "authorities."

The likelihood, however, is that the Department of Justice will appeal every one of the four counts which Judge Youngdahl threw out. It is hardly probable that there will be a trial on the three counts remaining until after the U. S. Court of Appeals or possibly the Supreme Court of the United States shall have ruled on the Youngdahl decision.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New Orleans, May 5—A great surge of enterprise and power, a mighty shift of business from the north to the south, is transforming the old, traditional southern tier of states from the Dixie which was long content to be picturesque and put-upon by the Yankees into a new industrial region.

The war industries and the military works which were set up in the south certainly left permanent physical assets on the ground. In this respect, and to an indefinite extent, a portion of the war debt may be counted as a profitable investment by the whole nation, and not as a lost economic cost of war.

The war did arouse the United States to the greatest industrial effort in the history of the world. And the same exertion continued with little slackening after VJ-Day, nothwithstanding the efforts of Walter Reuther, Phil Murray and the CIO generally at that time heavily infested with Red traitors and hospitable to them, to prevent orderly conversion.

But the physical plant of the new industrial south, best seen from the air in New Orleans, Shreveport, Fort Worth, Dallas, El Paso and the two principal cities of Arizona, Phoenix and Tucson, is not the only measure of the change.

I worked in Dallas in 1915 handling copy which was trickling in from press-camp at the head of General Pershing's cavalry column. The censor was a cavalry captain named George Patton, and the pilot who flew the first dispatches ever delivered by air was a lieutenant named Benny Foulois who later became chief of air and made the mistake of assuring Franklin D. Roosevelt that the air force could fly the mails. Twelve young pilots were killed proving that they weren't up to it.

In 1915, Dallas and Fort Worth were ugly dusty trading posts of an area which was just beginning to turn from cotton to oil. Oklahoma was a primitive muddy frontier whose capitol, then Guthrie, had been blown up by the explosion of an oil tanker on a Sante Fe siding.

The six-gun still was influential in social matters as my immediate predecessor in the UP's Dallas Bureau learned on his first day in town. He went to the barber to get freshed up and as he lay back with his eyes dreamily shut he heard a shot. He popped them open to see his barber dead on the floor. It appeared that the barber had been messing with the other man's folks. The incident caused no great commotion.

Forth Worth and Dallas now are huge modern cities whose very atmosphere or tempo, some impalpable thing about them, proclaims power. In 1943, great airplane factories were pushing out ships and miscellaneous other activities were humming, and the growth in commerce and population continues.

The oil towns stretching west to the Pecos atop the fabulous Permian Basin around Odessa are rich and busy. Wages are high and the new houses of the whole area are, on the average, the best that an equal number of industrial employes ever lived in. They may be small but each one is a home on its own lot, with its washing machine, refrigerator, modern plumbing and cheap automatic heat.

The vast expansion of manufacturing is seen in the big buildings, shrewdly located on the motor highways where enormous boxcars roll night and day and in the

Msgr. Murphy Dies

New York, May 6 (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis J. Murphy, STD, of the archdiocese of New York, died yesterday in Baltimore, it was announced by the Roman Catholic chancery office here. Murphy, formerly secretary to Francis Cardinal Spellman, had been pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, Elmsford, since July 8, 1950. The priest, 51, had been ill for several months. One of his assignments had been on the faculty of St. Joseph's Seminary at Dunwoodie, where he was assigned in 1939. Spellman will conduct a solemn requiem Mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral Friday. The monsignor's body will lie in state at the Archbishop Hughes residence, 445 Madison avenue, Manhattan, until tomorrow night.

Sullivan Recalls Police Uniform of Nightstick, Badge

Personal recollections of the Kingston Police Department formed the basis for a talk by Joseph F. Sullivan, city historian, at a regular luncheon meeting of the Kingston Lions Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Tuesday.

After reviewing the department's history since its founding in 1891, Sullivan noted that a 40-hour week will soon be instituted and additional men appointed to the force.

"With the advent of the shorter work week and better working conditions, the citizenry may look forward to even finer accomplishments by those men to whom we look for protection, both day and night. I feel confident we will not be disappointed," he said.

Remembers First Two

Sullivan recalled that as a young fellow living in Ponckhockie he used to go to the landing place of the Mary Powell at the Newark Lime and Cement Company dock and await the arrival of the steamer from New York. There he saw two of the first policemen of the newly organized force—John Kiernan and George Roach.

"They had not yet been fitted out with uniforms," he said. "They had just a badge and a nightstick."

The department was organized May 6, 1891, when the first meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners was held. The board consisted of Mayor John E. Kraft, Commissioners Jacob Chambers, Severyn B. Sharpe and John B. Alliger. The first chief of police was Stephen D. Hood, appointed May 13, 1891.

Force Grows

Sullivan named the first policemen: Thomas J. Murray, Thomas B. Cullen, John J. Kiernan, James D. McIntyre, William C. Schuberg and George Roach. Four constables who had been serving the city were also appointed members of the force, John Barry, John Sullivan, Michael J. Cahill and Thomas B. Johnston.

"About a month after the organization of the force Patrick McGeeney, William Vogt, Edwin Shader and George Minor were added to the list," the speaker said. The salary was $50 a month, compared to the present $238 a month for new patrolmen, he said, and the 1892 budget was $9,975 for the year, compared to $181,256 for 1953.

Will Add 15 More

"The force in 1892 consisted of one chief, two detective-sergeants and 11 patrolmen," Sullivan said. "Our present force has one chief, three lieutenants, four sergeants, two detectives, 42 patrolmen, beside an office clerk, five school patrols, three police surgeons and garage attendant. This number will be soon increased by the addition of about 15 more patrolmen."

"To some of you younger men a picture of a patrolman of 50 years ago with the helmet (dark blue in winter, grey in summer), a flowing moustache, and a belt with a small club, known as a 'billy' hanging at his side, is a curiosity," he said.

Sullivan reviewed the days when the department acquired the horse-drawn "Black Maria" to transport prisoners to the lockup, and an ambulance. In 1914 a mounted squad was formed to patrol the outlying sections of the city, but the horses were eliminated about three years later. In 1915 the Gamewell Police Signal System was installed.

Has Fine Record

"On the whole, our police department has had a fine record during the time of its existence, and I believe it still maintains that reputation," Sullivan concluded. He also noted that in its 62 years, the department has had but five chiefs—Hood, J. Allen Wood, Charles Phinney, Ernest Boss and Raymond VanBuren.

Following the adjournment of the meeting, Lions Club members went in a group to receive their free chest X-rays in the survey now in progress in Kingston.

Brewing Industry Has 8,000-Year History

The beginnings of the brewing of beer date back to the earliest agricultural activities of man. Some of the oldest historical records, excavated in the valleys of the Euphrates and the Nile, are concerned with brewing. They give the details of buying and selling grain for brewing purposes; they depict the tools and implements of the malting and brewing trade, and they convey formulas and recipes for beermaking.

Legend attributes the introduction of brewing in Egypt to Isis, the Egyptian goddess representing the principles of life. A tablet of baked pottery, unearthed in Mesopotamia, at least 6,000 years old, shows two men stirring the contents of a brewery vat. Kiu, a beer-like drink, was enjoyed by Chinese as far back as the twenty-third century, B.C. A recent translation of a cuneiform clay tablet, found in ancient Nineveh, describes Noah's preparations for the flood and indicates that beer was among the provisions on the Ark.

Dobler Beer Area Favorite Since 1860's

In the early 1860's a man named Darius S. Wood built a small wooden structure between Elm Street, Myrtle Avenue and Swan Street in Albany, for the purpose of brewing beer. Soon after that date, Wood sold his property to John Dobler who shortly proved himself a master brewer and a good businessman. His annual sales reached 12,350 barrels by 1885.

A few years later, the brewery was sold again, this time to Theodore M. Amsdell and George C. Hawley. The output increased still further with the sales figures of 1903 showing a grand total of 75,000 barrels.

Beer was taxed, in Wales, as early as 694 A. D. It was the favorite drink of 16th century England. Judging from old manuscripts, drinking capacities must have been phenomenal in those days, and it was probably nothing out of the ordinary when the Duke of Lancaster in 1459 endowed each of the ladies-in-waiting of his court with eight gallons of beer a week.

The historical significance of a beer-shortage on board the Mayflower (originally well stocked with forty huge casks) in determining Plymouth instead of Virginia as the landing place of the Pilgrims, is recorded in a manuscript of 1622: ". . . for we could not now take time for further search or consideration, our victuals being much spent, especially our beer."

To the new continent the early colonists brought their taste for ale and beer. Home brewing was the rule for some time. The first public breweries

IT'S GOT TO BE FRESH TO BE GOOD

People everywhere are beginning to realize that beer does not age in the bottle. The fresher a beer is when the bottle is opened the better.

A very delicate product, beer requires care in marketing. Extra handling, storing beer for considerable lengths of time, subjecting it to variations in temperatures has an injurious effect on the product. Beer shipped long distances, stored for long periods of time just cannot be as good as when it left the brewery.

A healthful, invigorating beverage, beer is enjoyed

Over the years, brewing has been a household function, a trade, an art, a coveted profession, a source of revenue granted by rulers to a privileged few, such as the monasteries of feudal lords of the Middle Ages, and its present day stature as a modern industry.

Business Prospects Look Good to Most Businessmen

By SAM DAWSON

New York, May 4 (AP)—Business prospects look good to most businessmen. Bankers find the boom continuing along fairly safe lines despite some contradictions. And statisticians find the boom backed up by a striking growth of real wealth widely distributed among American families.

These are the findings today of three sources viewing the economy from different angles.

First, Dun & Bradstreet interviewed 1,261 business executives around the country and found the majority expecting the last half of this year to be even better than the booming final months of 1952.

Two-thirds of them expect their sales totals will be higher. Most of the remainder think sales will be at least as high.

Half of them look for higher profits, and most of the others expect profits to be as high as they were last year.

Two-thirds of the executives believe more new orders will pour in the second half of this year than in the last half of 1952, and almost all of the other third expect new orders to be as high.

Nearly all expect to be hiring as many or more workers this year. The majority sees no change in their selling prices, and about half of them look for their inventories to be at the same level at the end of this year as at the start.

The broad base of consumer wealth on which business has to draw is shown in the second look at the economy today—this one by the National Industrial Conference Board which finds that half of U. S. families are now worth more than $7,500.

Consumer Wealth Rises

Consumer wealth in the United States has risen 50 per cent since the end of World War 2. Asset holdings of cash, insurance, homes, business interests, and the like, now exceed 800 billion dollars, with offsetting debts of about 100 billion dollars.

The board's study of statistics gathered by a number of federal agencies show that a sixth of all families own more than $30,000 in net assets.

Over half of all American families own their homes. Three-fifth of middle-class families own cars. Nearly three-fourths of all families have either bank accounts or savings bonds.

The third study of the economy today is by the National City Bank of New York. It has some misgivings about the health of the boom.

"The country," it says, "is in a boom in the sense that debts are increasing; that demand for investment funds exceeds current money savings, large though savings are; and that people are borrowing to buy."

But the bank is reassured by the fact that speculation is neither active nor forcing up prices. Nor is credit being used for speculative purposes to an alarming extent. The bank finds merchants emphasizing turnover and "keeping commitments and stocks well proportioned to sales."

But if the boom tops out this year, how much will business be hurt? Well, one business leader—Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of United States Steel Corporation—isn't worried.

In a statement prepared for big steel's stockholders meeting today, Fairless says if the demand for steel slackens in the closing months of the year, "the net result will be no more than a healthy and challenging increase in the competitive forces which normally prevail in the steel industry. Personally, I see no reason to fear such competition."

Training Course For Women Marine To Be Held in June

T/Sgt. Charles Awkerman of the local Marine Corps Recruiting Station stated today that a training course for marine woman officer candidates would be held again this year at Quantico, Va., beginning in June.

The class is known as the Marine Corps Women Officers Training Class. It consists of 12 weeks of special training designed to prepare the individual candidate for the responsible work she will have later on as a commissioned officer in the corps. Graduates of the class will be considered for assignments in such fields as personnel, administration, supply and public information.

Women marine officers are a real part of the corps and they receive the same pay, allowances, and benefits as do male officers of the same rank. They are now serving on active duty in this country, Europe and Hawaii.

Qualified young women who are still attending college or are recent graduates are eligible to enroll for the Marine Corps Women Officers Training Class but applications must be in by June 1 for the June class. Complete information is available at the Kingston Marine Corps Office located in the post office building.

It was also made known today that preferential treatment for any sick or wounded marines who may be among the prisoners of war repatriated by the Chinese Reds was authorized by Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps.

Marines who require no hospitalization will be allowed to choose their own station and will be given whatever promotions they may have missed while being held prisoner. Those who do not require hospitalization will have 30 days convalescent leave enroute to the duty station of their choice. Thase who are still patients will rate all their accrued leave on their way to the next duty station as soon as they are declared fit. Strict orders direct the elimination of any delaying paper work.

Training Course For Women Marine To Be Held in June

T/Sgt. Charles Awkerman of the local Marine Corps Recruiting Station stated today that a training course for marine woman officer candidates would be held again this year at Quantico, Va., beginning in June.

The class is known as the Marine Corps Women Officers Training Class. It consists of 12 weeks of special training designed to prepare the individual candidate for the responsible work she will have later on as a commissioned officer in the corps. Graduates of the class will be considered for assignments in such fields as personnel, administration, supply and public information.

Women marine officers are a real part of the corps and they receive the same pay, allowances, and benefits as do male officers of the same rank. They are now serving on active duty in this country, Europe and Hawaii.

Qualified young women who are still attending college or are recent graduates are eligible to enroll for the Marine Corps Women Officers Training Class but applications must be in by June 1 for the June class. Complete information is available at the Kingston Marine Corps Office located in the post office building.

It was also made known today that preferential treatment for any sick or wounded marines who may be among the prisoners of war repatriated by the Chinese Reds was authorized by Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., Commandant of the Marine Corps.

Marines who require no hospitalization will be allowed to choose their own station and will be given whatever promotions they may have missed while being held prisoner. Those who do not require hospitalization will have 30 days convalescent leave enroute to the duty station of their choice. Thase who are still patients will rate all their accrued leave on their way to the next duty station as soon as they are declared fit. Strict orders direct the elimination of any delaying paper work.

Education Department Sees Teacher Shortage

Albany, May 6 (AP) — The State Education Department forsees a serious teacher shortage this fall in schools outside New York city unless at least 700 additional elementary teachers are recruited.

Commissioner Lewis A. Wilson said yesterday the 700 needed were in addition to about 3,000 new teachers expected to come from graduates of state normal schools, universities and out-of-state sources.

"The situation is serious and it may grow in intensity," Wilson told school superintendents in a letter. "The quality of educational service will deteriorate and our schools will suffer," if the extra teachers are not obtained, he added.

The commissioner said the additional teachers were needed to handle increased enrollments, which reflect the high birth rate of the years following World War 2.

25 Windows Are Broken in Church

Local police said today they are investigating the breaking of 25 panes of glass in the Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop Place, apparently by boys using sling shots, air guns or slug guns.

The Rev. Forrest R. Prindle, pastor of the church, said today, the windows were apparently broken Sunday afternoon, by boys who shot the pellets from the cemetery to the rear of the church.

All of the windows were in the back, he said, and 23 of them were small diamond-shaped panes of glass, and two were larger panes. Some special type aluminum rivets were found, indicating that these had been used, among other pellets to break the windows.

The pastor also said attempts had apparently been made to break some of the heavier glass in windows of the church hall and a new ventilator there was damaged.

Last month police were notified that seven windows had been broken in School No. 5.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons have been assigned to investigate.

2,400 Jobs Are Cut In German Occupation

Bonn, Germany, May 6 (AP)—The U. S. High Commission said today that a trimming of occupation functions by July 1 will have cut more than 2,400 Americans and Germans from its payroll during the preceding year. More cuts are planned after July 1, but the outfit still will be America's biggest diplomatic mission abroad.

The high commission's executive director, Glenn G. Wolfe, said in an interview that by the end of the current U. S. fiscal year, "our American staff will number 950 compared with 1,170 a year ago, and our German employes will total 5,500 to 5,800, compared with 8,000 a year ago."

After the European Army Treaty and the Allied-West German Peace Contract are ratified, he added, "additional occupation functions will be dropped, resulting in the termination of another 400 or so employes, both American and German."

Suit Starts Today For Collapse of Porch in Highland

Trial of a suit against a Highland landlord for alleged injuries sustained when a second-story porch collapsed on the afternoon of September 5, 1951, commenced this morning before Supreme Court Justice William Deckelman.

Plaintiffs in the suit against Tully D'Antonio are Frank Figliolino, an electrical contractor, Carmine Figliolino, Lorin and Lillian Mackey. Roy L. Featherstone, Poughkeepsie attorney, appeared for the plaintiffs and Michael Nardone of Highland for the defendant.

In his opening argument before the jury of 10 women and two men Featherstone charged that the owner of the dwelling was responsible "in that he failed to fulfill his obligations as a landlord," that D'Antonio had not provided periodic inspections as required in order to insure the safety of his tenants.

Charges Porch Rotted

Featherstone charged that the porch, of wooden construction, was in poor condition at the time of the accident, the lower end of the pier "rotted away," that the porch sloped toward the outer edge and that when it collapsed it plunged Figliolino and Mrs. Mackey approximately 25 feet.

He claimed that Figliolino suffered a brain concussion and numerous other injuries, spent five days in Vassar Hospital, was totally disabled for several months and was still partially disabled. Mrs. Mackey, he said, sustained multiple injuries and underwent two operations for internal bleeding, that she was in the hospital for eight weeks and as the result, had sizable hospital and doctor bills.

Asks for Acquittal

Nardone argued that the defendant should be acquitted and that he was confident such a verdict would be returned when all the evidence had been heard.

He said the entire property had received a thorough inspection in 1945 and had been found in good condition and that when the accident occurred the landlord had been just as surprised as the tenants. He said that Figliolino had been hired to make certain electrical installations in the dwelling, was working on the job at the time of the accident and should have been aware of the condition of the porch.

Nardone said the porch had not fallen 25 feet, as counsel for the plaintiffs claimed, but only 10 or 12 feet, and that Mrs. Mackey had only received scratches. He said evidence would show that Mrs. Mackey had suffered from internal bleeding prior to the accident.

Jurors Are Excused

Judge Deckelman excused all jurors not engaged in trial of the case until 10 a. m. tomorrow. It was announced that Case 106, Pulver Gas and Oil Corp. against New York Electric and Gas Company for property damage, had been settled.

Next cases scheduled for trial on the May calendar are Harry L. Steeger against Thomas F. Cleary on a charge of assault and Christopher D. Morris against the New York Central Railroad Company for alleged malicious prosecution. Steeger is represented by Charles H. Gaffney, Cleary by Gerald E. Dwyer, Morris by Harry Gold and New York Central by Dwyer.

the State Education Department. Since no reply has been received as yet, the committee was continued.

Union Center District

A budget indicating lower taxes for the Union Center School District 4, town of Esopus, was adopted at the annual school meeting Tuesday evening by a record attendance of voters.

Provisions were made in the budget for painting the outside of the school building; and pending the approval by the board of education, an allowance was made for the installation of new lights in the school. The total to be raised by taxes amounts to $3,171.01.

William M. Daum was elected as trustee for a three-year term and Mrs. George Hard, reelected to the office of clerk. Mrs. Ernest Ryan whose term as trustee expires this year, declined nomination for reelection.

As a member of the board of trustees, on behalf of the district, George Hard expressed appreciation to Mrs. Ryan "for the great benefit we have all derived from her work as chairman of the board. She has not only shown a great interest in the business and financial matters concerning the school district, but in the human side as well," he said.

George Freer, elected chairman, conducted the meeting. Tellers appointed were Alfred Schoonmaker and George Villielm.

Flatbush Meeting

Gifford Beal was elected trustee for a three-year term at the annual meeting of School District No. 6 last night at the Emma Wygant school in Flatbush.

Mrs. Ralph Nardi was re-elected collector-treasurer and Mrs. Mary Fisher was named district clerk. Other members of the school board are Joseph M. Browne and Mrs. Thomas Parker.

More than 75 taxpayers attended the meeting. Gifford Beal was temporary chairman and Mrs. Mary Fisher served as temporary clerk. Calvin Swart and Robert Post served as tellers.

A budget of $17,578.19 for the 1953-54 fiscal year was adopted unanimously and it was voted to send pupils of the seventh and eighth grades to the MJM School in Kingston for the first time.

Power Shovel . . .

Basis of Findings

Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly, before allowing Attorney James C. Plunket time for a belated discussion of the Lucas avenue zoning change proposal, said the laws and rules committee which favored a business zone designation for the property, based its findings on the fact that it was unopposed at public hearing.

Plunket said, "I have no quarrel with the report of the committee, but we were unfortunately absent from the hearing."

Plunket said he had missed public notice of the hearing as apparently had others in the neighborhood. He did not know until the day after the hearing when he received "a number of calls" that the proposal was opposed.

The attorney said he had obtained information indicating that the property would be used for the operation of a gas station. He felt there was "no need for commercializing the property" and he argued that the surrounding area is largely residential and "when people move in a residential area, they expect it to remain so."

Three other gas stations are operating about a block away, he said, and he contended that operation of a gas station at the corner would be hazardous to school children, because often Washington and Lucas avenues are jammed with traffic. He estimated that about three-fourths of the children who attend School No. 7, pass the corner.

Plunket argued that the houses at Washington and Lucas avenue, owned by Alfred Mones, are "well on their way toward being developed" as apartment buildings, as he had done "with three of my own buildings." The city was in need of housing, he contended. He favored some more emphatic means of giving official notice of public hearing on application for zoning changes.

Avis' Contention

Attorney Joseph Avis, chairman of the local zoning board, said he felt the city has progressed within the past 10 years, and he felt the property in question should be considered as being in a retail business district.

The entire area from the Washington avenue viaduct to Lucas avenue, he suggested, should be considered for designation as a retail business district. As to traffic problems, he argued, "We have traffic problems throughout the city."

The property, part of which once housed a brewery, he said, was old and "represents an eyesore". He said he felt this would not be true if a "modern gas station" were built on the site. He said he had talked with residents of the area and "many were in favor," of making it a commercial district.

Avis said he had inspected the buildings and found them unsuitable for proper housing facilities. Three or four apartments were without windows, he said, and the stairway was in the center of the building.

Sees Heavier Traffic

As to the safety of children, he said he foresaw a post-thruway trend of heavier traffic over Washington avenue and North Front street, and Washington and Lucas. Arguing against the danger to children attending School No. 7, Avis said, the city now has a gas station "right in front" of the high school. He asked for a "vote tonight" on the proposal.

Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel moved for a delay because of the absence of Alderman Robert Cullum, 12th ward. Cullum, he felt should be allowed to voice the opinions of residents of his ward on the proposal.

Alderman-at-large Kelly said the application had been given due time for study, and he felt the committee was justified in its findings when there was no opposition at a public hearing. An application for a business designation on a property at Gill and Catherine street, by Frank Fiore, was given hearing on the same night, and the aldermen voted unanimously in favor of that.

Fiore indicated he has no immediate plans for development of the property.

Alderman Benjamin Storms, second ward, referring to Plunket's statement that the Mones property had an entrance on Washington avenue, as well as Lucas, while only 41-43 Lucas avenue was mentioned in the application. Alderman Martin W. Golden, ninth ward, also had this question in mind and suggested a recess to discuss it.

Seventh Ward Alderman Thomas Coughlin also argued for deferring action on the proposal, and he charged that the "zoning board railroaded" a zoning change "in my own ward two years ago."

Alderman Hirschell Mayes, first ward, said he had collected insurance for 25 years on the property and there "was never an entrance from Washington avenue." There is a store entrance, however, at the corner of Washington and Lucas avenue.

Alderman James K. Ryan, 10th ward, said he felt the delayed opposition to the zoning change was similar to that some time ago by people of the Roosevelt Park area, who were opposed to a zoning change for the building of a super market. This opinion changed when buffer zones were established around the proposed market area.

Change Is Voted

The recess was called and when the aldermen returned they voted for the zoning change as recommended by the laws and rules committee.

Alderman Radel, starting discussion on the requested $25,260 for a new power shovel, said "In all due respect to Mr. Steuding (public works superintendent, who attended the session) I believe the board lacks foresight," in making the request now.

It was known as far back as last November, he said, that this was going to happen, and he argued that provisions should have been made for purchase of the new shovel at that time.

Shovel Needed

Alderman David Schechter, sixth ward, argued that it would be "almost impossible to carry on with the street program" without the shovel, and he said "layoffs were already occurring." He did not want to be responsible, he said, for such delays in the public works program.

Coughlin also argued that the shovel was "Breaking down last year," and said the city has "$200,000 worth of equipment laying down on East Strand the past winter," which was not used, and a motorcycle with side car had not been used in the past 12 years.

Coughlin voted no, declaring he did not believe in "buying more, if we have all this equipment laying around."

Alderman Golden agreed that the condition of the 1939 shovel was brought out in November, but city officials decided at the time that they were going to try to get along with repairing the old one. It was reported that the shovel broke down six times since last November.

Sees Need, Votes 'No'

Ryan said he would not argue that the shovel was not needed, because local streets were badly in need of repair, but he felt a budget provision should have been made. He gave as the reason he, and "my colleagues vote no" the fact that the proposal came up so late in this year. The city he said, bought two new scoop-mobiles, (also known as pay-loaders). These, however, Steuding said, were not suitable for street excavation work.

Referred to the laws and rules committee was an application for a business zone designation for 549 Albany avenue, owned by Julius Lipton. Attorney Fred Stang filed the application, and said the property houses a store and living quarters at Albany avenue and Wrentham street.

Invitation Is Sent

Mayor Newkirk forwarded a letter from John R. Mayone of the Kingston Veterans' Association, inviting all aldermen and city officials to participate in the Memorial Day parade, and both the mayor and Alderman-at-Large Kelly said, it was their desire that all parade.

On request of the mayor, the aldermen authorized the sending of three local men to attend a training course sponsored by the New York State Youth Commission at St. Lawrence University, Canton, Aug. 16 to 21. The commission pays 50 per cent of expenses.

Letters from James P. Martin, president of the Civil Service Employes Association, asked the laws and rules committee to consider the association's request for three weeks of vacation for city employes serving five years or more and for Social Security status.

Martin noted that a former letter requesting the three weeks vacation had been referred to the laws and rules committee. No report had been made to date.

On the social security proposal he noted that some city employes "do not get any consideration when they are laid off." If they are under social security, he said, they will be covered. He suggested that social security status could lead to "a better class of workers," if they knew they could be "placed in a job by the unemployment bureau.

A letter from the mayor announcing the re-appointment of James Murphy, of 80 West Chestnut street, to the police board, was read and filed.

To Prohibit Parking

The alderman voted, on recommendations of the traffic committee, to prohibit parking on the north side of the hill back of the city hall known as Jansen avenue, and on the south side from the city hall entrance, 135 feet in the direction of Kingston Hospital.

They voted also to permit only one-hour parking on the West side of Smith avenue at a point 50 feet from Grand street, and extending north along Smith avenue to the railroad tracks.

A group of nine members of the Junior League and Mrs. John J. Hogan, 49 German street, recently appointed Democratic committeewoman, Seventh Ward, were welcomed by Alderman-at-large Kelly as observers of last night's proceedings.

Ulster Hose Company was called at 1:38 p. m., today to check a grass fire to the rear of the Lincoln Park Inn, Albany avenue extension.

Resolution Goes To City Officials

A Common Council resolution by Alderman James K. Ryan, 10th ward, presented at last night's meeting asked for a study of the city's transfer of surplus money in city departments, was referred by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly to the corporation counsel and city treasurer.

Ryan had asked for a committee of aldermen to study the proposal, but Kelly said he would refer it first to the two city officials.

Ryan mentioned the transfer of water department so-called surpluses as an example and contended the city has no system of setting up depreciation of accounts and he suggested that a special committee study the transfer of accounts.

Under a city charter provision his resolution said, "any surplus money to the credit of any one of the city departments may be transferred to the general fund and used for regular expenses of city government."

Doubts Its Value

While on the surface, he said, "this may seem to be a wise and fair provision, in practice the results are not found to be so. One flagrant example of this is exposed by the report of the Kingston Water Department that it will need extra money to operate properly in 1953 rather than having a surplus as we were led to believe by other sources last fall.

Alderman Parmelee noted that no report had been made on his resolution asking for the closing and sealing of the city dump on Wilbur avenue near the incinerator, and Alderman-at-large Kelly directed City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer to determine the status of such a report.

Other Resolutions

Other resolutions offered were: Radel — Repair Abbey street near intersection of Farrelly, and correct poor drainage on Grant street between Lincoln and Meade streets.

Wenzel—Hanratty street be one-way from Delaware avenue to Murray street, and parking on one side only, and entrance from Delaware avenue, that a 15-minute parking sign be placed in front of 595 Broadway, that a lock-type manhole cover be placed on sidewalk near 230 Hasbrouck avenue where a woman fell. If this mishap had involved a child, he said, it could have been serious.

Ryan—That Van Deusen street be made one-way from Broadway to Delmont street, and a street light be installed on Finnegan Place.

Mayes—A loading zone be authorized at 35 Crown street in front of the News-Leader building.

Parmelee—Repair lower section of Wilbur avenue from Chapel to Dunn and Davis streets.

Ex-Red Teacher Tells of Threats

New York, May 6 (AP)—The chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee said today that a witness who named as Communists a number of persons in the New York city schools had been threatened with bodily harm.

The witness, Mrs. Dorothy Funn, Brooklyn Negro teacher in the city's schools, testified before the committee Monday that she had been a member of a teachers' cell for a number of years.

May Call FBI

Chairman Harold H. Velde (R.-Ill.) said Mrs. Funn still is "under the jurisdiction of this committee" and that "any further threat of bodily injury to her will be referred to the FBI for investigation."

A short time earlier Lionel Stander, movie actor, declined to tell the committee whether he ever was a Communist party member between 1935 and 1948. He also said he would decline to answer "anything else you ask me along those lines."

The actor did testify, however, that he is not now a Communist.

25 Windows Are Broken in Church

Local police said today they are investigating the breaking of 25 panes of glass in the Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop Place, apparently by boys using sling shots, air guns or slug guns.

The Rev. Forrest R. Prindle, pastor of the church, said today, the windows were apparently broken Sunday afternoon, by boys who shot the pellets from the cemetery to the rear of the church.

All of the windows were in the back, he said, and 23 of them were small diamond-shaped panes of glass, and two were larger panes. Some special type aluminum rivets were found, indicating that these had been used, among other pellets to break the windows.

The pastor also said attempts had apparently been made to break some of the heavier glass in windows of the church hall and a new ventilator there was damaged.

Last month police were notified that seven windows had been broken in School No. 5.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons have been assigned to investigate.

2,400 Jobs Are Cut In German Occupation

Bonn, Germany, May 6 (AP)—The U. S. High Commission said today that a trimming of occupation functions by July 1 will have cut more than 2,400 Americans and Germans from its payroll during the preceding year. More cuts are planned after July 1, but the outfit still will be America's biggest diplomatic mission abroad.

The high commission's executive director, Glenn G. Wolfe, said in an interview that by the end of the current U. S. fiscal year, "our American staff will number 950 compared with 1,170 a year ago, and our German employes will total 5,500 to 5,800, compared with 8,000 a year ago."

After the European Army Treaty and the Allied-West German Peace Contract are ratified, he added, "additional occupation functions will be dropped, resulting in the termination of another 400 or so employes, both American and German."

Suit Starts Today For Collapse of Porch in Highland

Trial of a suit against a Highland landlord for alleged injuries sustained when a second-story porch collapsed on the afternoon of September 5, 1951, commenced this morning before Supreme Court Justice William Deckelman.

Plaintiffs in the suit against Tully D'Antonio are Frank Figliolino, an electrical contractor, Carmine Figliolino, Lorin and Lillian Mackey. Roy L. Featherstone, Poughkeepsie attorney, appeared for the plaintiffs and Michael Nardone of Highland for the defendant.

In his opening argument before the jury of 10 women and two men Featherstone charged that the owner of the dwelling was responsible "in that he failed to fulfill his obligations as a landlord," that D'Antonio had not provided periodic inspections as required in order to insure the safety of his tenants.

Charges Porch Rotted

Featherstone charged that the porch, of wooden construction, was in poor condition at the time of the accident, the lower end of the pier "rotted away," that the porch sloped toward the outer edge and that when it collapsed it plunged Figliolino and Mrs. Mackey approximately 25 feet.

He claimed that Figliolino suffered a brain concussion and numerous other injuries, spent five days in Vassar Hospital, was totally disabled for several months and was still partially disabled. Mrs. Mackey, he said, sustained multiple injuries and underwent two operations for internal bleeding, that she was in the hospital for eight weeks and as the result, had sizable hospital and doctor bills.

Asks for Acquittal

Nardone argued that the defendant should be acquitted and that he was confident such a verdict would be returned when all the evidence had been heard.

He said the entire property had received a thorough inspection in 1945 and had been found in good condition and that when the accident occurred the landlord had been just as surprised as the tenants. He said that Figliolino had been hired to make certain electrical installations in the dwelling, was working on the job at the time of the accident and should have been aware of the condition of the porch.

Nardone said the porch had not fallen 25 feet, as counsel for the plaintiffs claimed, but only 10 or 12 feet, and that Mrs. Mackey had only received scratches. He said evidence would show that Mrs. Mackey had suffered from internal bleeding prior to the accident.

Jurors Are Excused

Judge Deckelman excused all jurors not engaged in trial of the case until 10 a. m. tomorrow. It was announced that Case 106, Pulver Gas and Oil Corp. against New York Electric and Gas Company for property damage, had been settled.

Next cases scheduled for trial on the May calendar are Harry L. Steeger against Thomas F. Cleary on a charge of assault and Christopher D. Morris against the New York Central Railroad Company for alleged malicious prosecution. Steeger is represented by Charles H. Gaffney, Cleary by Gerald E. Dwyer, Morris by Harry Gold and New York Central by Dwyer.

the State Education Department. Since no reply has been received as yet, the committee was continued.

Union Center District

A budget indicating lower taxes for the Union Center School District 4, town of Esopus, was adopted at the annual school meeting Tuesday evening by a record attendance of voters.

Provisions were made in the budget for painting the outside of the school building; and pending the approval by the board of education, an allowance was made for the installation of new lights in the school. The total to be raised by taxes amounts to $3,171.01.

William M. Daum was elected as trustee for a three-year term and Mrs. George Hard, reelected to the office of clerk. Mrs. Ernest Ryan whose term as trustee expires this year, declined nomination for reelection.

As a member of the board of trustees, on behalf of the district, George Hard expressed appreciation to Mrs. Ryan "for the great benefit we have all derived from her work as chairman of the board. She has not only shown a great interest in the business and financial matters concerning the school district, but in the human side as well," he said.

George Freer, elected chairman, conducted the meeting. Tellers appointed were Alfred Schoonmaker and George Villielm.

Flatbush Meeting

Gifford Beal was elected trustee for a three-year term at the annual meeting of School District No. 6 last night at the Emma Wygant school in Flatbush.

Mrs. Ralph Nardi was re-elected collector-treasurer and Mrs. Mary Fisher was named district clerk. Other members of the school board are Joseph M. Browne and Mrs. Thomas Parker.

More than 75 taxpayers attended the meeting. Gifford Beal was temporary chairman and Mrs. Mary Fisher served as temporary clerk. Calvin Swart and Robert Post served as tellers.

A budget of $17,578.19 for the 1953-54 fiscal year was adopted unanimously and it was voted to send pupils of the seventh and eighth grades to the MJM School in Kingston for the first time.

Power Shovel . . .

Basis of Findings

Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly, before allowing Attorney James C. Plunket time for a belated discussion of the Lucas avenue zoning change proposal, said the laws and rules committee which favored a business zone designation for the property, based its findings on the fact that it was unopposed at public hearing.

Plunket said, "I have no quarrel with the report of the committee, but we were unfortunately absent from the hearing."

Plunket said he had missed public notice of the hearing as apparently had others in the neighborhood. He did not know until the day after the hearing when he received "a number of calls" that the proposal was opposed.

The attorney said he had obtained information indicating that the property would be used for the operation of a gas station. He felt there was "no need for commercializing the property" and he argued that the surrounding area is largely residential and "when people move in a residential area, they expect it to remain so."

Three other gas stations are operating about a block away, he said, and he contended that operation of a gas station at the corner would be hazardous to school children, because often Washington and Lucas avenues are jammed with traffic. He estimated that about three-fourths of the children who attend School No. 7, pass the corner.

Plunket argued that the houses at Washington and Lucas avenue, owned by Alfred Mones, are "well on their way toward being developed" as apartment buildings, as he had done "with three of my own buildings." The city was in need of housing, he contended. He favored some more emphatic means of giving official notice of public hearing on application for zoning changes.

Avis' Contention

Attorney Joseph Avis, chairman of the local zoning board, said he felt the city has progressed within the past 10 years, and he felt the property in question should be considered as being in a retail business district.

The entire area from the Washington avenue viaduct to Lucas avenue, he suggested, should be considered for designation as a retail business district. As to traffic problems, he argued, "We have traffic problems throughout the city."

The property, part of which once housed a brewery, he said, was old and "represents an eyesore". He said he felt this would not be true if a "modern gas station" were built on the site. He said he had talked with residents of the area and "many were in favor," of making it a commercial district.

Avis said he had inspected the buildings and found them unsuitable for proper housing facilities. Three or four apartments were without windows, he said, and the stairway was in the center of the building.

Sees Heavier Traffic

As to the safety of children, he said he foresaw a post-thruway trend of heavier traffic over Washington avenue and North Front street, and Washington and Lucas. Arguing against the danger to children attending School No. 7, Avis said, the city now has a gas station "right in front" of the high school. He asked for a "vote tonight" on the proposal.

Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel moved for a delay because of the absence of Alderman Robert Cullum, 12th ward. Cullum, he felt should be allowed to voice the opinions of residents of his ward on the proposal.

Alderman-at-large Kelly said the application had been given due time for study, and he felt the committee was justified in its findings when there was no opposition at a public hearing. An application for a business designation on a property at Gill and Catherine street, by Frank Fiore, was given hearing on the same night, and the aldermen voted unanimously in favor of that.

Fiore indicated he has no immediate plans for development of the property.

Alderman Benjamin Storms, second ward, referring to Plunket's statement that the Mones property had an entrance on Washington avenue, as well as Lucas, while only 41-43 Lucas avenue was mentioned in the application: Alderman Martin W. Golden, ninth ward, also had this question in mind and suggested a recess to discuss it.

Seventh Ward Alderman Thomas Coughlin also argued for deferring action on the proposal, and he charged that the "zoning board railroaded" a zoning change "in my own ward two years ago."

Alderman Hirschell Mayes, first ward, said he had collected insurance for 25 years on the property and there "was never an entrance from Washington avenue." There is a store entrance, however, at the corner of Washington and Lucas avenue.

Alderman James K. Ryan, 10th ward, said he felt the delayed opposition to the zoning change was similar to that some time ago by people of the Roosevelt Park area, who were opposed to a zoning change for the building of a super market. This opinion changed when buffer zones were established around the proposed market area.

Change Is Voted

The recess was called and when the aldermen returned they voted for the zoning change as recommended by the laws and rules committee.

Alderman Radel, starting discussion on the requested $25,260 for a new power shovel, said "In all due respect to Mr. Steuding (public works superintendent, who attended the session) I believe the board lacks foresight," in making the request now.

It was known as far back as last November, he said, that this was going to happen, and he argued that provisions should have been made for purchase of the new shovel at that time.

Shovel Needed

Alderman David Schechter, sixth ward, argued that it would be "almost impossible to carry on with the street program" without the shovel, and he said "layoffs were already occurring." He did not want to be responsible, he said, for such delays in the public works program.

Coughlin also argued that the shovel was "Breaking down last year," and said the city has "$200,000 worth of equipment laying down on East Strand the past winter," which was not used, and a motorcycle with side car had not been used in the past 12 years.

Coughlin voted no, declaring he did not believe in "buying more, if we have all this equipment laying around."

Alderman Golden agreed that the condition of the 1939 shovel was brought out in November, but city officials decided at the time that they were going to try to get along with repairing the old one. It was reported that the shovel broke down six times since last November.

Sees Need, Votes 'No'

Ryan said he would not argue that the shovel was not needed, because local streets were badly in need of repair, but he felt a budget provision should have been made. He gave as the reason he, and "my colleagues vote no" the fact that the proposal came up so late in this year. The city he said, bought two new scoop-mobiles, (also known as pay-loaders). These, however, Steuding said, were not suitable for street excavation work.

Referred to the laws and rules committee was an application for a business zone designation for 549 Albany avenue, owned by Julius Lipton. Attorney Fred Stang filed the application, and said the property houses a store and living quarters at Albany avenue and Wrentham street.

Invitation Is Sent

Mayor Newkirk forwarded a letter from John R. Mayone of the Kingston Veterans' Association, inviting all aldermen and city officials to participate in the Memorial Day parade, and both the mayor and Alderman-at-Large Kelly said, it was their desire that all parade.

On request of the mayor, the aldermen authorized the sending of three local men to attend a training course sponsored by the New York State Youth Commission at St. Lawrence University, Canton, Aug. 16 to 21. The commission pays 50 per cent of expenses.

Letters from James P. Martin, president of the Civil Service Employes Association, asked the laws and rules committee to consider the association's request for three weeks of vacation for city employes serving five years or more and for Social Security status.

Martin noted that a former letter requesting the three weeks vacation had been referred to the laws and rules committee. No report had been made to date.

On the social security proposal he noted that some city employes "do not get any consideration when they are laid off." If they are under social security, he said, they will be covered. He suggested that social security status could lead to "a better class of workers," if they knew they could be "placed in a job by the unemployment bureau.

A letter from the mayor announcing the re-appointment of James Murphy, of 80 West Chestnut street, to the police board, was read and filed.

To Prohibit Parking

The alderman voted, on recommendations of the traffic committee, to prohibit parking on the north side of the hill back of the city hall known as Jansen avenue, and on the south side from the city hall entrance, 135 feet in the direction of Kingston Hospital.

They voted also to permit only one-hour parking on the West side of Smith avenue at a point 50 feet from Grand street, and extending north along Smith avenue to the railroad tracks.

A group of nine members of the Junior League and Mrs. John J. Hogan, 49 German street, recently appointed Democratic committeewoman, Seventh Ward, were welcomed by Alderman-at-large Kelly as observers of last night's proceedings.

Ulster Hose Company was called at 1:38 p. m., today to check a grass fire to the rear of the Lincoln Park Inn, Albany avenue extension.

Resolution Goes To City Officials

A Common Council resolution by Alderman James K. Ryan, 10th ward, presented at last night's meeting asked for a study of the city's transfer of surplus money in city departments, was referred by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly to the corporation counsel and city treasurer.

Ryan had asked for a committee of aldermen to study the proposal, but Kelly said he would refer it first to the two city officials.

Ryan mentioned the transfer of water department so-called surpluses as an example and contended the city has no system of setting up depreciation of accounts and he suggested that a special committee study the transfer of accounts.

Under a city charter provision his resolution said, "any surplus money to the credit of any one of the city departments may be transferred to the general fund and used for regular expenses of city government."

Doubts Its Value

While on the surface, he said, "this may seem to be a wise and fair provision, in practice the results are not found to be so. One flagrant example of this is exposed by the report of the Kingston Water Department that it will need extra money to operate properly in 1953 rather than having a surplus as we were led to believe by other sources last fall.

Alderman Parmelee noted that no report had been made on his resolution asking for the closing and sealing of the city dump on Wilbur avenue near the incinerator, and Alderman-at-large Kelly directed City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer to determine the status of such a report.

Other Resolutions

Other resolutions offered were: Radel — Repair Abbey street near intersection of Farrelly, and correct poor drainage on Grant street between Lincoln and Meade streets.

Wenzel—Hanratty street be one-way from Delaware avenue to Murray street, and parking on one side only, and entrance from Delaware avenue, that a 15-minute parking sign be placed in front of 595 Broadway, that a lock-type manhole cover be placed on sidewalk near 230 Hasbrouck avenue where a woman fell. If this mishap had involved a child, he said, it could have been serious.

Ryan—That Van Deusen street be made one-way from Broadway to Delmont street, and a street light be installed on Finnegan Place.

Mayes—A loading zone be authorized at 35 Crown street in front of the News-Leader building.

Parmelee—Repair lower section of Wilbur avenue from Chapel to Dunn and Davis streets.

Ex-Red Teacher Tells of Threats

New York, May 6 (AP)—The chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee said today that a witness who named as Communists a number of persons in the New York city schools had been threatened with bodily harm.

The witness, Mrs. Dorothy Funn, Brooklyn Negro teacher in the city's schools, testified before the committee Monday that she had been a member of a teachers' cell for a number of years.

May Call FBI

Chairman Harold H. Velde (R.-Ill.) said Mrs. Funn still is "under the jurisdiction of this committee" and that "any further threat of bodily injury to her will be referred to the FBI for investigation."

A short time earlier Lionel Stander, movie actor, declined to tell the committee whether he ever was a Communist party member between 1935 and 1948. He also said he would decline to answer "anything else you ask me along those lines."

The actor did testify, however, that he is not now a Communist.

The Catskills area seems assured of at least four good business periods during the current year: Both Memorial Day and the Fourth of July fall on Saturday, while Christmas and New Year's come on Friday. The mountains could do with a little more summer business than has been the case the past three years, resort men say.

Babies Appear Most Popular Interest in Hollywood, Says Day

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Babies appear to be the most popular interest on which all Hollywood agrees without dissent.

"Everybody's having 'em," says Dennis Day, the singing Irishman of radio and TV. "Seems to be kind of an epidemic. Nice, though."

Dennis has been married five years to a colleen named Maggie and their score to date is four children: Paddy 4, Dennis 3, Mike 2, and Margaret Mary, 6 months. Says Pop:

"When I proposed to Maggie I suggested we have eight children. She married me anyway. We're halfway to our goal and, who knows? it might turn out to be an even dozen."

Stork Derby

Dennis, who was born Eugene Dennis McNulty, points to other Hollywood celebrities in the stork derby. Lovely Maureen O'Sullivan has seven children; Bing Crosby has four boys; his brother Bob has five children; Joan Crawford has adopted four. And of course there's that famous baby, Desi Arnaz, IV, who timed his birth for his parents' television schedule.

The Days live in Mandeville Canyon, near Hollywood. All the rest of the Day family has moved to the coast — Dennis's parents and his five brothers and sisters. All except one are married and busily engaged in raising babies.

The one unmarried brother is Dr. Jim McNulty, who is engaged to the lovely Ann Blyth. Dennis says he doesn't know whether Dr. Jim has brought up the subject of big families to Ann as yet, but he figures she must have observed the family propensity, after meeting Mom and Pop McNulty and their 14 grandchildren.

Dr. Jim, handily for his brothers and sisters, is an obstetrician, and keeps fairly busy within the family circle.

Believe in Old School

Dennis feels he was fortunate in his choice of a wife, she was born Margaret Ellen Almquist, and was introduced to Dennis by his mother. Maggie also likes big families, and deals with her present bouncing brood with the greatest of ease. The Days have no time for trying out new theories of child psychology. They believe in the old school of child care, and do not spare the rod.

Dennis aired his views on child-raising during a recent visit to New York where he arrived for the purpose of receiving a medal of honor as the most outstanding alumnus of Manhattan College, presented by Cardinal Spellman. Says the singer:

"It sure was fun, seeing all my old classmates again. All of them have three or four children each. One, a doctor, has eight—but he started earlier."

Boom Permanent

Dennis feels that the Hollywood baby boom is here to stay, pointing out that all the new homes out there have multiple bedrooms, and that young couples who started out in three-room bungalows are having to expand their living quarters to take care of the added juvenile population.

This situation has produced one critical labor shortage—baby sitters.

Wed in Washington (D.C.) National Cathedral

Susan W. McCorkle Becomes Bride of Burwell E. Decker

SUSAN W. McCORKLE

Miss Susan Wingfield McCorkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Claiborne McCorkle, of Elizabethton, Tenn., became the bride of Burwell Edson Decker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Edson Decker, 17 Mountain View avenue, Saturday, April 25, at 4:30 p. m. in St. Mary's Chapel of the National Cathedral, Washington, D. C. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Lowry, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, Chevy Chase, Md. A reception for the immediate families and out-of-town guests was held at the Kennedy-Warren Hotel, Washington.

The flowers on the altar were white carnations, gladioli and snapdragons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballet length gown of Venetian lace, styled with molded bodice, wide portrait neckline, and crushed elbow-length sleeves. The skirt was a full circular plait of lace, over a shirred tulle flounce. Her fingertip length veil of matching Venetian lace, was attached to a coronet-type headpiece of matching Venetian lace encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and white lilacs, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Raymond B. Dunn of Washington, aunt to the bride, was the matron-of-honor. She wore a gown of aqua taffeta and a gold hat; and carried yellow roses.

The best man was Donald A. Laidlaw of 7 Mountain View avenue, now stationed with the Third Army Headquarters, Fort Jackson, S. C. Serving as ushers were Raymond B. Dunn of Washington, uncle to the bride; and William C. McCorkle of Elizabethton, the bride's brother.

The couple left for a wedding trip. For traveling, the bride chose a navy blue suit, white accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Decker was graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School in Richmond, Va., attended the East Tennessee State College, and Oberlin College of Arts and Sciences.

Mr. Decker was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '49, and attended Colgate University, the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, and Oberlin College.

The Wright brothers taught about 50 students to fly, the beginning of a chain which includes most modern pilots.

Susan W. McCorkle Becomes Bride of Burwell E. Decker

SUSAN W. McCORKLE

Miss Susan Wingfield McCorkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Claiborne McCorkle, of Elizabethton, Tenn., became the bride of Burwell Edson Decker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Edson Decker, 17 Mountain View avenue, Saturday, April 25, at 4:30 p. m. in St. Mary's Chapel of the National Cathedral, Washington, D. C. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Lowry, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, Chevy Chase, Md. A reception for the immediate families and out-of-town guests was held at the Kennedy-Warren Hotel, Washington.

The flowers on the altar were white carnations, gladioli and snapdragons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballet length gown of Venetian lace, styled with molded bodice, wide portrait neckline, and crushed elbow-length sleeves. The skirt was a full circular plait of lace, over a shirred tulle flounce. Her fingertip length veil of matching Venetian lace, was attached to a coronet-type headpiece of matching Venetian lace encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and white lilacs, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Raymond B. Dunn of Washington, aunt to the bride, was the matron-of-honor. She wore a gown of aqua taffeta and a gold hat; and carried yellow roses.

The best man was Donald A. Laidlaw of 7 Mountain View avenue, now stationed with the Third Army Headquarters, Fort Jackson, S. C. Serving as ushers were Raymond B. Dunn of Washington, uncle to the bride; and William C. McCorkle of Elizabethton, the bride's brother.

The couple left for a wedding trip. For traveling, the bride chose a navy blue suit, white accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Decker was graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School in Richmond, Va., attended the East Tennessee State College, and Oberlin College of Arts and Sciences.

Mr. Decker was graduated from Kingston High School, class of '49, and attended Colgate University, the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, and Oberlin College.

The Wright brothers taught about 50 students to fly, the beginning of a chain which includes most modern pilots.

DAR State Regent Is Guest Speaker At Dinner-Meeting

Mrs. Harold F. Erb, state regent, Daughters of the American Revolution was the guest of honor Monday evening at the Wiltwyck Chapter, DAR. Following a dinner at Judie's restaurant, Mrs. Erb, making her first visit since installation at Washington, D. C., in April, spoke to the group. Her topic was the Constitution and International Treaties.

"The Constitution is not a piece of paper studied in school and then forgotten, but an important part of our government and lives, that should be kept alive by constant reference to it," said Mrs. Erb.

Congress Theme

The speaker described the theme of the Continental Congress as individual responsibility, and asserted that the new administration of the National Society DAR intends to build committees instead of monuments. The most important of the committees will be National Defense, she said. Two new committees have been formed, the American Red Cross committee and the Committee for DAR magazine ads.

Before she concduded her talk, Mrs. Erb announced that Mrs. J. James Soechting of Kingston has been elected vice-chairman of Junior Membership Committee. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Walter Schussler, program chairman.

Officers Elected

Mrs. Soechting, chairman, presided over the regular meeting at which election of officers for the coming year was held. Mrs. Roger Billings, chairman of the nominating committee announced the slate of officers. Mrs. John Martin Schleede was elected chairman, Mrs. Albert Roosa, vice chairman, Mrs. William Lawrence, secretary and Miss Carolyn Newkirk, treasurer.

Meets Mrs. Eisenhower

Mrs. William Ochs, regent, and Mrs. Adam H. Porter gave interesting accounts of their trip to Continental Congress at which Mrs. Gertrude S. Carraway of New Bern, N. C. was installed as President General NSDAR. Mrs. Porter attended her ninth session of this Congress. She attended the White House reception and met Mrs. Eisenhower.

Mrs. Porter read an article from the DAR Magazine for Mrs. Albert Roosa, National Defense chairman. Five dollars was donated as a prize for the senior high school girl with the highest average in American History.

The dinner was in charge of the entertainment committee headed by Mrs. Harold Smith. Punch and cookies were served after the meeting by Mrs. Hollis Burhans.

Godfrey TV Star Grants Child's Wish In Unexpected Visit

Julius LaRosa, (right) popular vocalist member of the Arthur Godfrey TV and radio show, arrived in the city recently for an unexpected visit to Roscoe Perry Jr., the five-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Perry, 2 Ponckhockie street.

Young Roscoe, who has been seriously ill, was taken to the Memorial Hospital in New York two weeks ago, in the firm belief that he was going to see the Arthur Godfrey show. His disappointment was great when he learned the truth.

The Arthur Godfrey cast heard about the child's plight, and Mr. LaRosa went to the hospital for a surprise visit to little Roscoe, but learned he had been discharged. Undaunted, the TV star drove to Kingston and made the youngster's dream come true by giving him a special performance during a two-hour visit, before returning to New York.

DAR State Regent Is Guest Speaker At Dinner-Meeting

Mrs. Harold F. Erb, state regent, Daughters of the American Revolution was the guest of honor Monday evening at the Wiltwyck Chapter, DAR. Following a dinner at Judie's restaurant, Mrs. Erb, making her first visit since installation at Washington, D. C., in April, spoke to the group. Her topic was the Constitution and International Treaties.

"The Constitution is not a piece of paper studied in school and then forgotten, but an important part of our government and lives, that should be kept alive by constant reference to it," said Mrs. Erb.

Congress Theme

The speaker described the theme of the Continental Congress as individual responsibility, and asserted that the new administration of the National Society DAR intends to build committees instead of monuments. The most important of the committees will be National Defense, she said. Two new committees have been formed, the American Red Cross committee and the Committee for DAR magazine ads.

Before she concduded her talk, Mrs. Erb announced that Mrs. J. James Soechting of Kingston has been elected vice-chairman of Junior Membership Committee. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Walter Schussler, program chairman.

Officers Elected

Mrs. Soechting, chairman, presided over the regular meeting at which election of officers for the coming year was held. Mrs. Roger Billings, chairman of the nominating committee announced the slate of officers. Mrs. John Martin Schleede was elected chairman, Mrs. Albert Roosa, vice chairman, Mrs. William Lawrence, secretary and Miss Carolyn Newkirk, treasurer.

Meets Mrs. Eisenhower

Mrs. William Ochs, regent, and Mrs. Adam H. Porter gave interesting accounts of their trip to Continental Congress at which Mrs. Gertrude S. Carraway of New Bern, N. C. was installed as President General NSDAR. Mrs. Porter attended her ninth session of this Congress. She attended the White House reception and met Mrs. Eisenhower.

Mrs. Porter read an article from the DAR Magazine for Mrs. Albert Roosa, National Defense chairman. Five dollars was donated as a prize for the senior high school girl with the highest average in American History.

The dinner was in charge of the entertainment committee headed by Mrs. Harold Smith. Punch and cookies were served after the meeting by Mrs. Hollis Burhans.

Thruway Bonds Sold by State for $125 Million May 5

Albany, May 6—A $125,000,000 issue of state guaranteed Thruway bonds was sold today by State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern, acting as agent for the New York State Thruway Authority, at a net interest cost of 2.63827 per cent.

The successful bidder was a syndicate of nearly 300 banks and trust companies jointly managed by the Chase National Bank and the National City Bank of New York, with Lehman Brothers as associate manager. No other bid was received on the issue, the first to be sold by the authority bearing the guarantee of the State of New York.

The bonds will be dated June 1, 1953 and will mature in varying amounts on June 1, 1958 and annually thereafter to and including June 1, 1984.

First Financing

The issue, authorized by resolution of the Thruway authority on April 21, 1953, is the first bond financing in connection with the Thruway, now under construction virtually all along the main route from New York to Buffalo. When completed, this 427-mile cross-state traffic artery will be placed on a self-sustaining and self-liquidating basis through revenues derived from user fees and concessions.

Previously, the authority had borrowed $10,000,000 on non-guaranteed short-term notes when it acquired the Grand Island Bridges and $60,000,000 on guaranteed short-term notes to finance Thruway construction during 1952. The authority is empowered to issue up to $500,000,000 in bonds for Thruway purposes.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Impulsive Playing Is Very Dangerous

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When an opponent takes a losing finesse in your direction, don't be in too much of a hurry to win the trick. If the finesse is repeatable, you will get the trick later on even if you refuse it the first time. The important thing is to look ahead and make your decision before the play is actually executed. Today's hand shows one reason for this.

West opened the three of spades in response to his partner's light overcall. Dummy won with the king of spades, and declarer immediately finessed the queen of hearts. West had anticipated this play as soon as he had seen dummy's trump holding, so he was able to play a low heart very casually.

South should have cashed dummy's remaining top spade before proceeding, to be in position for a spade ruff, but the apparent success of the trump fineese had given declarer the impression that at least one overtrick could be obtained. He therefore switched to clubs and was allowed to win the third trick with the queen of clubs.

Declarer next led his remaining club, and West was allowed to win the trick with the ten.

West naturally returned another low spade, forcing out the side entry to the threatening club suit. Now declarer decided to repeat his trump finesse, but West was able to win with the king of hearts and return his last trump. This eliminated dummy's ruffing power, so that South had to lose a spade trick. Since South also lost a trump, two diamonds and a club, he was set one at an "unbeatable contract."

South could have made the contract by playing the hand properly. The fact remains, however, that thousands of declarers all over the country make mistakes every time they play bridge. It is the duty of a good defender to give an erring declarer enough rope to hang himself.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I ran across a story in The Kingston Freeman and Journal of Friday, Nov. 24, 1911. I take it that would be the day after Thanksgiving Day. It reads as follows: "Foreclosure of mortgage deprives 'The Senate' of furniture. A chattel mortgage covering most of the furniture at 'The Senate' the large boarding house on North Front street at the head of Clinton avenue was foreclosed Tuesday, coincidently with the foreclosure of a chattel mortgage covering a part of the furnishings of The Albion Inn on Fair street. The chattel mortgage on the property at The Senate was held by Mrs. L. R. Smith, who conducted The Albion Inn, and the mortgage covering the furnishings at the latter place, which was conducted by Mrs. Smith, was held by Gregory & Barnes."

This complicated story which no doubt brought many sidewalk sightseers out to the uptown business section that day is further explained thus: "The Senate was conducted by Mrs. Smith up to the middle of last May, when it was taken over by Mrs. Herman Zipfel. Mrs. Smith at the same time taking over the Albion Inn, which was the successor of the Wiltwyck Inn on Fair street, the latter inn moving at the same time to its present building on Main street. Mrs. Smith received in payment of her furniture at the Senate $1,000 in cash, two notes for $500 and a chattel mortgage for $1,500. The notes were disposed of but went to protest when they became due last week."

Perhaps some folks remember this incident for it gets tangled even further. There were 18 boarders living at The Senate when City Marshal Murphy came over to remove the furniture covered by the chattel mortgage held by Mrs. Smith. Many of the boarders began to protest to the procedure as many of them owned part of the furniture in their own rooms, and the work of selecting only the articles covered by the mortgage was an arduous task for all. The city marshal performed his duty under difficult circumstances as one can readily understand but finally he was able to have seven vans filled and removed the goods to the storage warehouse of S. L. Torrey on Broadway. The furnishings at The Albion Inn, covered by the Gregory and Barnes chattel mortgage, was removed to their own warehouse.

One may wonder what happened to the poor boarders from whom the beds and furniture was taken through no fault of their own. It seems that they were all well provided for temporarily over night at other nearby boarding houses. It also said, that Mrs. Zipfel began negotiating for the refurnishing of The Senate by Morris Kaplan at once.

Every time I go down on The Strand in the past couple of weeks there seems to be such drastic changes. For one thing, between Broadway and Hasbrouck avenue it is a one-way street so cars are still parked on both sides but all in one direction. The Rondout National Bank is leaving Rondout and going to middle of Kingston. Will it still be called The "Rondout" National Bank? In the last couple of years old stand by businesses have closed their doors down there for various reasons or moved elsewhere. Still that street is near the creek and who knows perhaps in the very near future some new invention for water navigation will boom it up again. Buildings on both sides are well constructed and will stand up for many years to come.

Why We Say--

No Shoes

This word for one who is lazy or not thorough shows the emphasis placed on the wearing of shoes. Slipshod actually means "one wearing shoes" alluding to the fact that slippers take little effort to wear.

Thruway Bonds Sold by State for $125 Million May 5

Albany, May 6—A $125,000,000 issue of state guaranteed Thruway bonds was sold today by State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern, acting as agent for the New York State Thruway Authority, at a net interest cost of 2.63827 per cent.

The successful bidder was a syndicate of nearly 300 banks and trust companies jointly managed by the Chase National Bank and the National City Bank of New York, with Lehman Brothers as associate manager. No other bid was received on the issue, the first to be sold by the authority bearing the guarantee of the State of New York.

The bonds will be dated June 1, 1953 and will mature in varying amounts on June 1, 1958 and annually thereafter to and including June 1, 1984.

First Financing

The issue, authorized by resolution of the Thruway authority on April 21, 1953, is the first bond financing in connection with the Thruway, now under construction virtually all along the main route from New York to Buffalo. When completed, this 427-mile cross-state traffic artery will be placed on a self-sustaining and self-liquidating basis through revenues derived from user fees and concessions.

Previously, the authority had borrowed $10,000,000 on non-guaranteed short-term notes when it acquired the Grand Island Bridges and $60,000,000 on guaranteed short-term notes to finance Thruway construction during 1952. The authority is empowered to issue up to $500,000,000 in bonds for Thruway purposes.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Impulsive Playing Is Very Dangerous

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When an opponent takes a losing finesse in your direction, don't be in too much of a hurry to win the trick. If the finesse is repeatable, you will get the trick later on even if you refuse it the first time. The important thing is to look ahead and make your decision before the play is actually executed. Today's hand shows one reason for this.

West opened the three of spades in response to his partner's light overcall. Dummy won with the king of spades, and declarer immediately finessed the queen of hearts. West had anticipated this play as soon as he had seen dummy's trump holding, so he was able to play a low heart very casually.

South should have cashed dummy's remaining top spade before proceeding, to be in position for a spade ruff, but the apparent success of the trump fineese had given declarer the impression that at least one overtrick could be obtained. He therefore switched to clubs and was allowed to win the third trick with the queen of clubs.

Declarer next led his remaining club, and West was allowed to win the trick with the ten.

West naturally returned another low spade, forcing out the side entry to the threatening club suit. Now declarer decided to repeat his trump finesse, but West was able to win with the king of hearts and return his last trump. This eliminated dummy's ruffing power, so that South had to lose a spade trick. Since South also lost a trump, two diamonds and a club, he was set one at an "unbeatable contract."

South could have made the contract by playing the hand properly. The fact remains, however, that thousands of declarers all over the country make mistakes every time they play bridge. It is the duty of a good defender to give an erring declarer enough rope to hang himself.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I ran across a story in The Kingston Freeman and Journal of Friday, Nov. 24, 1911. I take it that would be the day after Thanksgiving Day. It reads as follows: "Foreclosure of mortgage deprives 'The Senate' of furniture. A chattel mortgage covering most of the furniture at 'The Senate' the large boarding house on North Front street at the head of Clinton avenue was foreclosed Tuesday, coincidently with the foreclosure of a chattel mortgage covering a part of the furnishings of The Albion Inn on Fair street. The chattel mortgage on the property at The Senate was held by Mrs. L. R. Smith, who conducted The Albion Inn, and the mortgage covering the furnishings at the latter place, which was conducted by Mrs. Smith, was held by Gregory & Barnes."

This complicated story which no doubt brought many sidewalk sightseers out to the uptown business section that day is further explained thus: "The Senate was conducted by Mrs. Smith up to the middle of last May, when it was taken over by Mrs. Herman Zipfel. Mrs. Smith at the same time taking over the Albion Inn, which was the successor of the Wiltwyck Inn on Fair street, the latter inn moving at the same time to its present building on Main street. Mrs. Smith received in payment of her furniture at the Senate $1,000 in cash, two notes for $500 and a chattel mortgage for $1,500. The notes were disposed of but went to protest when they became due last week."

Perhaps some folks remember this incident for it gets tangled even further. There were 18 boarders living at The Senate when City Marshal Murphy came over to remove the furniture covered by the chattel mortgage held by Mrs. Smith. Many of the boarders began to protest to the procedure as many of them owned part of the furniture in their own rooms, and the work of selecting only the articles covered by the mortgage was an arduous task for all. The city marshal performed his duty under difficult circumstances as one can readily understand but finally he was able to have seven vans filled and removed the goods to the storage warehouse of S. L. Torrey on Broadway. The furnishings at The Albion Inn, covered by the Gregory and Barnes chattel mortgage, was removed to their own warehouse.

One may wonder what happened to the poor boarders from whom the beds and furniture was taken through no fault of their own. It seems that they were all well provided for temporarily over night at other nearby boarding houses. It also said, that Mrs. Zipfel began negotiating for the refurnishing of The Senate by Morris Kaplan at once.

Every time I go down on The Strand in the past couple of weeks there seems to be such drastic changes. For one thing, between Broadway and Hasbrouck avenue it is a one-way street so cars are still parked on both sides but all in one direction. The Rondout National Bank is leaving Rondout and going to middle of Kingston. Will it still be called The "Rondout" National Bank? In the last couple of years old stand by businesses have closed their doors down there for various reasons or moved elsewhere. Still that street is near the creek and who knows perhaps in the very near future some new invention for water navigation will boom it up again. Buildings on both sides are well constructed and will stand up for many years to come.

Why We Say--

No Shoes

This word for one who is lazy or not thorough shows the emphasis placed on the wearing of shoes. Slipshod actually means "one wearing shoes" alluding to the fact that slippers take little effort to wear.

Gardiner, May 6 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Freer, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McKinstry attended the roller derby at Teaneck, N. J., on Friday.

Mrs. James Clinton of Stamford, Conn., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clinton.

Mr. and Mrs. James Doyle, Sr., of Richmond Hill spent the weekend at their summer home on the Mountain road.

Flowers at the Gardiner Reformed Church last Sunday were in memory of Mr. and Mrs. John Graban given by their daughter Mrs. Irving Otis. There was a large attendance at the Sunday evening service. Rev. and Mrs. Lee Crandall spoke of their work at Akobo, Egyptian Sudan, Africa, and showed colored slides. Among these were pictures of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arnold who are also missionaries at Akobo.

The Dutch Circle will meet at the parsonage on Monday, May 11, at 8 p. m. Mrs. Florin Ruger and Mrs. Allan Crispell will serve as hostesses.

FUNNNY BUSINESS — By HERSCHBERGER

"See, Junior—HE washes behind his ears!"

As Pegler Sees It

colonies of workers' homes spotted close by.

New Orleans has recovered from the political and personal wounds inflicted in the dangerous rise of Huey Long to challenge Roosevelt in a dictator's revolution that started as a mere scrap over patronage.

Sensing his power over the hearts of his clay-eaters, Long practically revoked the strange French constitution of Louisiana in the role of counsel to a committee of the legislature which railroaded a whole sheaf of drastic statutes. The two houses were Huey's rubber stamps, so the committee's action was tantamount to adoption.

He appointed himself special counsel to recover vast amounts from big corporations as delinquent taxes, with a right to one-third of all such money for himself, when he was shot dead—whether by his own guards or by a sensitive, non-political young surgeon the public has never learned for sure. The guards tore the little doctor to tatters with their guns at arm's length. They exonerated themselves.

Like the war, the long regime left substantial assets, these in the way of bridges, highways, hospitals and schools. Now the old grudges have been squared or compromised and the Port of New Orleans is becoming to South American commerce and culture what New York has been in relation to Europe.

There is a rivalry between New Orleans and Miami in air commerce but I find it hard to conceive of Miami appealing to the Latins as pleasantly as New Orleans with her unique character, her aristocracy and gentility and her history which seems to make Andy Jackson and Jean Lafitte come alive. Or, for that matter to the Americans of the Mississippi and Ohio valleys who are tending toward the south like flotsam on the father of waters.

There is great building activity in New Orleans and in October there will be a big celebration of the 150th anniversary of the Louisiana Purchase, with most of the states of the valley participating.

The port suffers, though to a smaller degree than New York, from the crimes of the Longshoremen's Union of the A.F. of L. Other bad unions are growing bolder and a fight seems inevitable.

President Eisenhower came to New Orleans last year and made a speech at International House, a private institution organized by the businessmen to promote commerce with Latin America. He summed things up when he said:

"If there exists a city in the United States which has fully grasped the significance of world trade, that city is New Orleans. International House is a majestic symbol of understanding."

Assembly Plant Will Be Erected At Jersey Site

New York, May 6 (AP)—Ford Motor Company announced today it is negotiating to buy a 200-acre site near Mahwah, N. J., opposite Suffern, to build a huge new Ford car and truck assembly plant.

The proposed site, owned by the Erie Railroad, is 21 miles northwest of the George Washington Bridge and 14 miles north of Paterson, N. J.

The future use of Ford's present plant at Edgewater, N. J., has not been determined, A. M. Harris, plant manager, said today in a letter to employes, but he assured them of job security.

He said "you can rest assured that when the proper time comes, all the then current employes will either be retained at Edgewater, offered transfers to the new plant —or part transferred and part retained."

L. D. Crusoe, Ford vice president, said:

"The new plant—the third we have announced since mid-February to be completed within the next two or three years—will give us the production we need to meet the demand on the east coast."

The other two new assembly plants will be located at San Jose, Calif., and Louisville, Ky.

The proposed Mahwah plant will have more than 1,500,000 square feet of manufacturing space and will be designed for two shift production.

"Its capacity will be almost triple that of Edgewater," the announcement said. "At peak two shift production, the plant could employ about 5,000 persons."

Alliance Church 19th Anniversary To Be Celebrated

Special weekend services have been arranged by the Alliance Gospel Church, Franklin and Pine streets, in celebration of its 19th anniversary.

Services are planned for Friday and Saturday at 7:45 p. m. and all day Sunday, the Rev. Virgil R. Grisco, pastor, has announced.

Family Night will be observed Friday at 7:45 p. m., when the Rev. Charles Turner, assistant superintendent of the Northeastern District of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, will be the speaker. He also will speak at other services.

The Ambassador Male Quartet of the Missionary Training Institute at Nyack will present special music Saturday night and at all services on Sunday.

The Alliance Gospel Church is a part of the world-wide Missionary organization of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, now preaching the gospel on 22 foreign mission fields. From the beginning, the local church has maintained its world-wide vision of the missionary endeavor with its missionary pledge for foreign missions increasing 140 per cent in the last three years. Missionary giving this year is expected to reach $2,000 in the local church alone. Missionary giving for the entire organization of more than 1,000 churches in the United States and Canada will be nearly $3,000,000.

Crusader Hits Jackpot

Oklahoma City, May 6 (AP)—The State Legislature's crime crusader, Rep. Robert O. Cunningham, hit the jackpot the other night. While accompanying police on a vice raid, he shoved a nickel in the slot of a machine which looked suspiciously like an illegal gambling device. Out tumbled 148 nickels. Did he keep them? "Sure," said the legislator. "It was my nickel."

Woman Settles Death Suit for $120,000

New York, May 6 (AP)—A woman whose husband and daughter were killed in a Long Island Railroad wreck has settled a damage suit against the railroad for $120,000.

Mrs. Helen Michaels, of Roosevelt, had sued for $500,000 damages for the death of her husband, Bernard, 51, a $10,000-a-year clothing salesman, and her daughter, Sheila, 19.

After trial got underway yesterday before a jury in Kings county Supreme Court, attorneys announced the settlement.

More Rain Is Likely For Eastern Regions

(By The Associated Press)

More rain appeared in prospect for areas in the east, southeast and midwest today as summer-like weather continued in the western half of the country.

There were only a few wet spots in the mid-continent. One wet belt extended over southern Iowa, northern Missouri and eastern Kansas. Showers also hit sections of southern Wisconsin and northeastern Illinois.

Fordomatic leaves 'em all behind—It's the newest word in smooth, versatile automatic drives . . . and it does its job so well that the whole car industry is scampering to catch up.

Does more things automatically

Fordomatic goes far beyond the range of ordinary automatic transmissions to give you extra safety and driving convenience. You have at your command extra passing power all the way up to 58 miles per hour and extra engine braking at any speed.

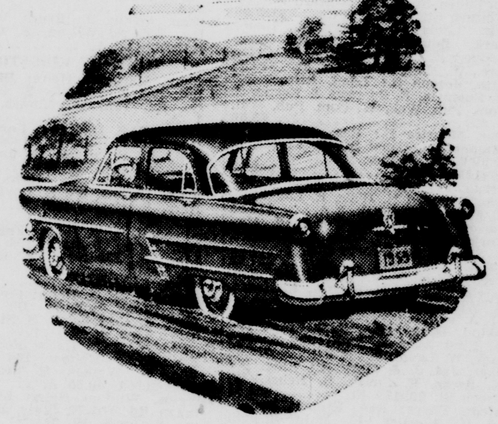
Quick on the draw

Response is terrific! With Fordomatic's versatile "getaway" gear, Fordomatic slips gently, automatically into high at just the right moment. If safety permits, you may go all the way up to 65 mph in "double-time" before the shift takes place.



"Rocking" out's a cinch

By moving the Safety-Sequence Selector lever between reverse and low, and accelerating slightly you get out of snow or mud in a jiffy. And with Fordomatic you can get a "push-start" at low speed.

Step down and "zoom"

At speeds below 58 mph, just press the accelerator to the floor and you get up to 50% extra pulling power for passing or hill-climbing. Only Fordomatic, in its field, gives you this extra pull at such high speed.

As Pegler Sees It

colonies of workers' homes spotted close by.

New Orleans has recovered from the political and personal wounds inflicted in the dangerous rise of Huey Long to challenge Roosevelt in a dictator's revolution that started as a mere scrap over patronage.

Sensing his power over the hearts of his clay-eaters, Long practically revoked the strange French constitution of Louisiana in the role of counsel to a committee of the legislature which railroaded a whole sheaf of drastic statutes. The two houses were Huey's rubber stamps, so the committee's action was tantamount to adoption.

He appointed himself special counsel to recover vast amounts from big corporations as delinquent taxes, with a right to one-third of all such money for himself, when he was shot dead—whether by his own guards or by a sensitive, non-political young surgeon the public has never learned for sure. The guards tore the little doctor to tatters with their guns at arm's length. They exonerated themselves.

Like the war, the long regime left substantial assets, these in the way of bridges, highways, hospitals and schools. Now the old grudges have been squared or compromised and the Port of New Orleans is becoming to South American commerce and culture what New York has been in relation to Europe.

There is a rivalry between New Orleans and Miami in air commerce but I find it hard to conceive of Miami appealing to the Latins as pleasantly as New Orleans with her unique character, her aristocracy and gentility and her history which seems to make Andy Jackson and Jean Lafitte come alive. Or, for that matter to the Americans of the Mississippi and Ohio valleys who are tending toward the south like flotsam on the father of waters.

There is great building activity in New Orleans and in October there will be a big celebration of the 150th anniversary of the Louisiana Purchase, with most of the states of the valley participating.

The port suffers, though to a smaller degree than New York, from the crimes of the Longshoremen's Union of the A.F. of L. Other bad unions are growing bolder and a fight seems inevitable.

President Eisenhower came to New Orleans last year and made a speech at International House, a private institution organized by the businessmen to promote commerce with Latin America. He summed things up when he said:

"If there exists a city in the United States which has fully grasped the significance of world trade, that city is New Orleans. International House is a majestic symbol of understanding."

Assembly Plant Will Be Erected At Jersey Site

New York, May 6 (AP)—Ford Motor Company announced today it is negotiating to buy a 200-acre site near Mahwah, N. J., opposite Suffern, to build a huge new Ford car and truck assembly plant.

The proposed site, owned by the Erie Railroad, is 21 miles northwest of the George Washington Bridge and 14 miles north of Paterson, N. J.

The future use of Ford's present plant at Edgewater, N. J., has not been determined, A. M. Harris, plant manager, said today in a letter to employes, but he assured them of job security.

He said "you can rest assured that when the proper time comes, all the then current employes will either be retained at Edgewater, offered transfers to the new plant—or part transferred and part retained."

L. D. Crusoe, Ford vice president, said:

"The new plant—the third we have announced since mid-February to be completed within the next two or three years—will give us the production we need to meet the demand on the east coast."

The other two new assembly plants will be located at San Jose, Calif., and Louisville, Ky.

The proposed Mahwah plant will have more than 1,500,000 square feet of manufacturing space and will be designed for two shift production.

"Its capacity will be almost triple that of Edgewater," the announcement said. "At peak two shift production, the plant could employ about 5,000 persons."

Alliance Church 19th Anniversary To Be Celebrated

Special weekend services have been arranged by the Alliance Gospel Church, Franklin and Pine streets, in celebration of its 19th anniversary.

Services are planned for Friday and Saturday at 7:45 p. m. and all day Sunday, the Rev. Virgil R. Brisco, pastor, has announced.

Family Night will be observed Friday at 7:45 p. m., when the Rev. Charles Turner, assistant superintendent of the Northeastern District of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, will be the speaker. He also will speak at other services.

The Ambassador Male Quartet of the Missionary Training Institute at Nyack will present special music Saturday night and at all services on Sunday.

The Alliance Gospel Church is a part of the world-wide Missionary organization of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, now preaching the gospel on 22 foreign mission fields. From the beginning, the local church has maintained its world-wide vision of the missionary endeavor with its missionary pledge for foreign missions increasing 140 per cent in the last three years. Missionary giving this year is expected to reach $2,000 in the local church alone. Missionary giving for the entire organization of more than 1,000 churches in the United States and Canada will be nearly $3,000,000.

Crusader Hits Jackpot

Oklahoma City, May 6 (AP)—The State Legislature's crime crusader, Rep. Robert O. Cunningham, hit the jackpot the other night. While accompanying police on a vice raid, he shoved a nickel in the slot of a machine which looked suspiciously like an illegal gambling device. Out tumbled 148 nickels. Did he keep them? "Sure," said the legislator. "It was my nickel."

Woman Settles Death Suit for $120,000

New York, May 6 (AP)—A woman whose husband and daughter were killed in a Long Island Railroad wreck has settled a damage suit against the railroad for $120,000.

Mrs. Helen Michaels, of Roosevelt, had sued for $500,000 damages for the death of her husband, Bernard, 51, a $10,000-a-year clothing salesman, and her daughter, Sheila, 19.

After trial got underway yesterday before a jury in Kings county Supreme Court, attorneys announced the settlement.

Pompei Plans Plays

Pompei, Italy (AP) — Dead Pompei will come alive again this summer. Classic Latin play of long-dead Titus Maccius Plautus are to be staged in the 2,000-year-old theatre of the city which volcanic Vesuvius buried. Instead of vacationing Roman swells in togas, the audience will be mostly tourists, including many Americans. Prof. Amedeo Maiuri, superintendent of antiquities here, announced Pompei's two ancient theatres have been completely uncovered and restored in preparation.

The Chief Operator knew the score!

"Around eleven o'clock tonight," said the chief operator of the telephone office, "our switchboards will become very busy."

A good guess? No, a good game. You see, the local basketball team was playing its big rival that evening. And the chief operator knew that lots of people would be phoning when the game was over.

The number of telephone calls can change tremendously from day to day—even from hour to hour. A radio bulletin or a newspaper headline can do it. So can a sudden storm—a popular television program—a local election. Holidays always mean a big change in volume of calls.

Keeping pace with these changing demands requires constant alertness by telephone people—plus equipment always ready to handle heavy loads. This adds up to fast, dependable service all around the clock. So fast that the average local call goes through in 20 seconds or less. So dependable that the average telephone stays in use 6 years without any interruption to service. New York Telephone Company.

Pompei Plans Plays

Pompei, Italy (AP) — Dead Pompei will come alive again this summer. Classic Latin play of long-dead Titus Maccius Plautus are to be staged in the 2,000-year-old theatre of the city which volcanic Vesuvius buried. Instead of vacationing Roman swells in togas, the audience will be mostly tourists, including many Americans. Prof. Amedeo Maiuri, superintendent of antiquities here, announced Pompei's two ancient theatres have been completely uncovered and restored in preparation.

The Chief Operator knew the score!

"Around eleven o'clock tonight," said the chief operator of the telephone office, "our switchboards will become very busy."

A good guess? No, a good game. You see, the local basketball team was playing its big rival that evening. And the chief operator knew that lots of people would be phoning when the game was over.

The number of telephone calls can change tremendously from day to day—even from hour to hour. A radio bulletin or a newspaper headline can do it. So can a sudden storm—a popular television program—a local election. Holidays always mean a big change in volume of calls.

Keeping pace with these changing demands requires constant alertness by telephone people—plus equipment always ready to handle heavy loads. This adds up to fast, dependable service all around the clock. So fast that the average local call goes through in 20 seconds or less. So dependable that the average telephone stays in use 6 years without any interruption to service. New York Telephone Company.

Landlocked Salmon Reported Caught In Reservoir

The first catch of a landlocked salmon in this area was reported yesterday, when Joseph Franz of West Hurley landed a specimen in the Ashokan Reservoir.

Lorias Make Bid For ABC Jackpot

Chicago, May 6 (AP)—One of the last of the nation's top ranking bowling teams, the V. Loria & Sons of New York city, will feature the 120 teams competing tonight in the American Bowling Congress Golden Jubilee tournament.

The Lorias, with a 990 average, have the potential to challenge the Detroit Pfeiffer Beers, who pace the regular division with a lofty 3181 total.

Marty Cassio, a 200 average sharpshooter in 17 ABC tourneys, is the New Yorkers' wheelhorse. Another of the Lorias' top keglers is John Bomba, who two years ago rolled two consecutive 300 games in a Staten Island tournament.

Yesterday's action again was dominated by low scoring as none of the top ten leaders in each division was even mildly threatened.

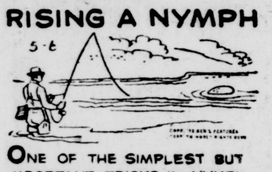
RISING A NYMPH



ONE OF THE SIMPLEST BUT IMPORTANT TRICKS IN NYMPH FISHING IS CAUSING THE NYMPH TO RISE FROM THE BOTTOM TO THE SURFACE AS IF TO HATCH.

DETERMINE THE LENGTH OF LINE NEEDED TO REACH THE TAIL OF A RAPIDS OR ROCK LOCATION OF A FEEDING FISH, THEN CAST SO THE NYMPH DRIFTS DEEP AND DRAG-FREE TO IT. KEEP ROD TIP HIGH IN THE LINE'S DIRECTION. AS DRIFT ENDS AND LINE GROWS TAUT, LOWER ROD TIP TO FLOAT LINE AND BEGIN A VERY SLOW HAND RETRIEVE TO IMPART ACTION TO THE RISING NYMPH

See Walcott Reverting to Old Shuffle

Chicago, May 6 (AP)—The suspicion is growing that Jersey Joe Walcott will flit through the greatest boxing ballet of his career in his attempt to dethrone heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

It was with the disdain and pride of a champion that Walcott waded into an upstart Marciano at Philadelphia last September in a tremendously thrilling bout that ended in a stunning 13th round knockout of Jersey Joe.

Now Jersey Joe knows differently. Rocky can be hit but not hurt.

He won't say so, but everything about his preparation for his May 15 return bout with Marciano at Chicago Stadium indicates that Walcott is ready to hit and run—as only this remarkable ring ancient knows how.

Was Ahead on Points

Even without his first-round knockdown of Marciano, Walcott would have been well ahead on points through 12 rounds at Philadelphia.

In the course of his brutal toe-to-toe slugging with the Brockton, Mass., Blockbuster, Walcott got himself cut in the left eye, blood from which he claims blinded him to the 13th round roundhouse right which felled him like an axed steer.

All these things have been weighed carefully in the Walcott camp, close observers say, and Jersey Joe will be out to dance and jab Marciano into an outpointed loser.

He did this in his title defense against Ezzard Charles, a much younger foe who remembered too much that Walcott carried an explosive punch in their previous meeting which cost Charles the championship.

One Walcott camp follower points out significantly that Walcott scored at least 15 knockdowns preparing for the first meeting with Marciano. This time, that has happened only once or twice.

Now Walcott is training to move, move. He constantly is rolling with punches. He keeps working off the ropes as elusively as possible. He uses his famed "Walcott Shuffle," suddenly breaking into a nonchalent walk and then sneaking over a fast right.

Gallardo-Riley Battle Tonight

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Dave Gallardo, the west coast featherweight hotshot, takes on Charley Riley tonight in a 10-round bout that may give the winner a shot at the championship.

The nationally televised fight (CBS) is scheduled for 9 p. m. (EST) at Turner's Arena.

Gallardo was an unknown in the east until he trounced Percy Bassett, the interim champ, in a nontitle go here last month. That victory shoved Gallardo up to the No. 1 challenger's position in the National Boxing Association (NBA) ratings.

Riley, a hard hitting St. Louisan, has won himself the somewhat fancy nickname of "Chillin' Charley" on the basis of 31 knockout victories. He has been around since 1944 and has been up and down the ladder, but never too far down.

Hitting Power Means Nothing Without Good Swing-Thomson

New York, May 6 (AP)—Hitting power?

In baseball or golf, it don't mean a thing if you ain't got that swing, says Jimmy Thomson.

Thomson, long regarded as the longest hitter in golf, prefers to talk about the longest hitters in baseball.

"You have to eliminate Babe Ruth," said the bull-shouldered pro yesterday at an informal press party thrown by sponsors of next week's charity round robin tournament at Westbury, N. Y. "He was the greatest—the epitome of all hitters.

"Ruth was a great slugger because he knew how to throw his hips into a swing. Power, whether it's golf or baseball, doesn't come from the arms or shoulders. It comes from the waist down.

"The Babe shifted his hips like a hula dancer and threw his whole body behind the blow.

"He was an easy swinger, like Johnny Mize. You wondered how he could get such distance with such an effortless swing. Lefty O'Doul was the same way.

"The most beautiful swinger in baseball, of course, is Stan Musial. He winds himself up like a coiled spring and then snaps out in one terrific explosion—like a screw starting at his feet and winding up through his whole body.

Praises Mantle

"Potentially the greatest power hitter today is the Yankees' Mickey Mantle. He's the Sam Snead of baseball. Powerful shoulders and arms, terrific coordination. He simply overpowers the ball. When he calms down and starts swinging more easily—with his hips in it—he'll be murder. Every swing will be a potential home run."

Thomson, although a powerfully-constructed man himself, said size and quantity of muscles have nothing to do with slugging strength—it's all rhythm.

Tremendous shoulders and freewheeling hips have made Thomson one of the showpieces of golf. He's never been a great champion but people flock to the tees to watch him pummel a ball.

"I don't know exactly how far I've hit the ball," Jimmy said. "Once back in 1937 there was an American driving contest at Niagara Falls. All the pros were there. We had 20 shots and could take the ten best balls. I won with an average of 312 yards. My longest knock was 362.

"In 1936 in Iola, Kansas, I once pulled a five-par green with my tee shot. It measured 437 yards. But the ground was hard, I got a good roll and there was a wind behind me.

"The greatest hitter in golf? Competitively, that's easy—Sam Snead."

Lorias Make Bid For ABC Jackpot

Chicago, May 6 (AP)—One of the last of the nation's top ranking bowling teams, the V. Loria & Sons of New York city, will feature the 120 teams competing tonight in the American Bowling Congress Golden Jubilee tournament.

The Lorias, with a 990 average, have the potential to challenge the Detroit Pfeiffer Beers, who pace the regular division with a lofty 3181 total.

Marty Cassio, a 200 average sharpshooter in 17 ABC tourneys, is the New Yorkers' wheelhorse. Another of the Lorias' top keglers is John Bomba, who two years ago rolled two consecutive 300 games in a Staten Island tournament.

Yesterday's action again was dominated by low scoring as none of the top ten leaders in each division was even mildly threatened.

Los Angeles — Sal Flores, 160, Anaheim, Calif., stopped Bobby Lee, 152, Baltimore, 8.

RISING A NYMPH

ONE OF THE SIMPLEST BUT IMPORTANT TRICKS IN NYMPH FISHING IS CAUSING THE NYMPH TO RISE FROM THE BOTTOM TO THE SURFACE AS IF TO HATCH.

KEEP ROD TIP HIGH IN THE LINE'S DIRECTION. AS DRIFT ENDS AND LINE GROWS TAUT, LOWER ROD TIP TO FLOAT LINE AND BEGIN A VERY SLOW HAND RETRIEVE TO IMPART ACTION TO THE RISING NYMPH.

See Walcott Reverting to Old Shuffle

Chicago, May 6 (AP)—The suspicion is growing that Jersey Joe Walcott will flit through the greatest boxing ballet of his career in his attempt to dethrone heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

It was with the disdain and pride of a champion that Walcott waded into an upstart Marciano at Philadelphia last September in a tremendously thrilling bout that ended in a stunning 13th round knockout of Jersey Joe.

Now Jersey Joe knows differently. Rocky can be hit but not hurt.

He won't say so, but everything about his preparation for his May 15 return bout with Marciano at Chicago Stadium indicates that Walcott is ready to hit and run—as only this remarkable ring ancient knows how.

Was Ahead on Points

Even without his first-round knockdown of Marciano, Walcott would have been well ahead on points through 12 rounds at Philadelphia.

In the course of his brutal toe-to-toe slugging with the Brockton, Mass., Blockbuster, Walcott got himself cut in the left eye, blood from which he claims blinded him to the 13th round roundhouse right which felled him like an axed steer.

All these things have been weighed carefully in the Walcott camp, close observers say, and Jersey Joe will be out to dance and jab Marciano into an outpointed loser.

He did this in his title defense against Ezzard Charles, a much younger foe who remembered too much that Walcott carried an explosive punch in their previous meeting which cost Charles the championship.

One Walcott camp follower points out significantly that Walcott scored at least 15 knockdowns preparing for the first meeting with Marciano. This time, that has happened only once or twice.

Now Walcott is training to move, move. He constantly is rolling with punches. He keeps working off the ropes as elusively as possible. He uses his famed "Walcott Shuffle," suddenly breaking into a nonchalent walk and then sneaking over a fast right.

Gallardo-Riley Battle Tonight

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Dave Gallardo, the west coast featherweight hotshot, takes on Charley Riley tonight in a 10-round bout that may give the winner a shot at the championship.

The nationally televised fight (CBS) is scheduled for 9 p. m. (EST) at Turner's Arena.

Gallardo was an unknown in the east until he trounced Percy Bassett, the interim champ, in a non-title go here last month. That victory shoved Gallardo up to the No. 1 challenger's position in the National Boxing Association (NBA) ratings.

Riley, a hard hitting St. Louisan, has won himself the somewhat fancy nickname of "Chillin' Charley" on the basis of 31 knockout victories. He has been around since 1944 and has been up and down the ladder, but never too far down.

Hitting Power Means Nothing Without Good Swing-Thomson

New York, May 6 (AP)—Hitting power?

In baseball or golf, it don't mean a thing if you ain't got that swing, says Jimmy Thomson.

Thomson, long regarded as the longest hitter in golf, prefers to talk about the longest hitters in baseball.

"You have to eliminate Babe Ruth," said the bull-shouldered pro yesterday at an informal press party thrown by sponsors of next week's charity round robin tournament at Westbury, N. Y. "He was the greatest—the epitome of all hitters.

"Ruth was a great slugger because he knew how to throw his hips into a swing. Power, whether it's golf or baseball, doesn't come from the arms or shoulders. It comes from the waist down.

"The Babe shifted his hips like a hula dancer and threw his whole body behind the blow.

"He was an easy swinger, like Johnny Mize. You wondered how he could get such distance with such an effortless swing. Lefty O'Doul was the same way.

"The most beautiful swinger in baseball, of course, is Stan Musial. He winds himself up like a coiled spring and then snaps out in one terrific explosion—like a screw starting at his feet and winding up through his whole body.

Praises Mantle

"Potentially the greatest power hitter today is the Yankees' Mickey Mantle. He's the Sam Snead of baseball. Powerful shoulders and arms, terrific coordination. He simply overpowers the ball. When he calms down and starts swinging more easily—with his hips in it—he'll be murder. Every swing will be a potential home run."

Thomson, although a powerfully-constructed man himself, said size and quantity of muscles have nothing to do with slugging strength—it's all rhythm.

Tremendous shoulders and free-wheeling hips have made Thomson one of the showpieces of golf. He's never been a great champion but people flock to the tees to watch him pummel a ball.

"I don't know exactly how far I've hit the ball," Jimmy said. "Once back in 1937 there was an American driving contest at Niagara Falls. All the pros were there. We had 20 shots and could take the ten best balls. I won with an average of 312 yards. My longest knock was 362.

"In 1936 in Iola, Kansas, I once pulled a five-par green with my tee shot. It measured 437 yards. But the ground was hard, I got a good roll and there was a wind behind me.

"The greatest hitter in golf? Competitively, that's easy—Sam Snead."

High School Golfers Tie Middies in Opener, 6-6

Marks' Victory Is Key Match

High school golfers staged a belated 1953 opener Tuesday by playing a 6-6 tie with Middletown High on the rainsoaked Orange county fairways.

A 3-0 victory scored by Ronnie Marks over Amelio, of Middletown, in the No. 2 singles was the key performance for Coach John Gilligan's Maroon swingers.

Harold Van Aken turned in a neat bit of golf by getting a standoff with Mickey Cosgrave, the Middie ace who is virtually unbeatable on his home course. Both posted 82s.

Bells on His Toes

Los Angeles (AP)—Twenty-month-old Mike Conrad thinks he's a pretty lucky young fellow to have bells on his toes. Although he occasionally bumps into things, he likes to toddle around the house just so he can hear their pleasant tinkle. The little bells, tied to his shoes, were the idea of his mother, Mrs Paul Conrad, 33, 1322 East 64th street. She decided she needed to know the whereabouts of the active, energetic youngster and bells tell her. Thus she can do her housework and, by the way the bells tinkle, she can tell where Mike is and pretty much what he is doing. If you think Mrs. Conrad is keeping closer tabs on her son than most mothers, she considers it necessary. Since birth, Mike has been blind.

Indians Fold—as Usual When Yankees Show Up

Ford Stops Tribe By 11-1 Score

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Until last night, the Cleveland Indians hadn't met the New York Yankees this season. Today they were wishing they had let well enough alone.

The clubs were tied for the league lead. This was the big chance for Cleveland to take over. At least that's the way it looked to the Indian fans.

Well, the Indians blew it, but good. They got whopped, 11-1. It was their worst licking this season.

Bob Lemon, Cleveland's best, duelled Whitey Ford, Casey Stengel's desperation hope, on even terms for three innings. Then came chaos.

Thirteen Yankees went to bat in the fourth. Seven of them singled, two walked, one got hit and eight scored. The Yankees added three more runs in the fifth.

The Indians couldn't do a thing with Ford until Wally Westlake came through with a bases-empty home run in the eighth.

So the Indians, who went into the game in an exact percentage tie with the Yankees, came out trailing by a big game and a half—the Yanks have played and won three more games—and with the onrushing Boston Red Sox only a half game back in third place.

Bosox Third

Boston took over third by whipping the Chicago White Sox, 5-1, while the Philadelphia Athletics were succumbing to Virgil Trucks and the St. Louis Browns, 2-1, in the other night games in the American League. The A's, who had been third, slipped to fourth.

Washington blasted Detroit, 14-4., in the only day game although each club got 16 hits.

Rain washed out the entire National League program.

Bob Porterfield of the Senators lost seven games on shutouts last season. Yesterday he helped make sure he would get some runs in at least one of his games this year. Coming to bat with the bases loaded, the Washington righthander slammed his first major league home run. The blow was the big one although the Senators got 15 other hits off Bill Wight and four other Tiger hurlers. Porterfield, himself, gave up 16, about his usual quota for two full games.

Fourth Win for Parnell

Mel Parnell of the Red Sox won his fourth straight without a loss, the best record in either league, as he scattered five Chicago hits. Saul Rogovin drew the loss, his fourth in a row.

Vic Wertz of the Browns took over the home run lead in the American League as he hit his fifth of the year with one man on base. The two runs were all Trucks neded to post his third victory against one loss as he bested young Harry Byrd in an errorless game. Each club got eight hits with the A's only run coming on one of Trucks' two walks which Dave Philley followed with a double.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting—Bob Porterfield, Washington Senators, helped win his own game with his first major league home run, with the bases full, against Detroit. The Senators won, 14-4.

Pitching — Mel Parnell, Boston Red Sox, scattered five Chicago hits in winning his fourth game without a loss, 5-1, the best record in either league.

Bob Rush of the Chicago Cubs led the National League pitchers in hitting during the 1952 season. He batted .292.

Thelma Garon Hits 540 Series

Thelma Garon had a big night for herself in the Central Rec Women's League, posting high individual series of 160-160-190-540.

That was the best of five "500" triples, with Emma Pratt toppling high single of 230 and 527; Jennie Spada 508, Pat Pearson 507 and Jessie Burnett 502.

Lois DeCicco fired 471, M. McCaffrey 470, E. Hutton 466 and Arlene Raible 463.

Team results:

Bowery Dugout 2, Vanderlyn Battery 1; Fuller Shirts 3, Stone Ridge FA 0; Old Capital Motors 3, Tropical Inn 3; Jones Dairy 2, Regina's 1.

High School Golfers Tie Middies in Opener, 6-6

Marks' Victory Is Key Match

High school golfers staged a belated 1953 opener Tuesday by playing a 6-6 tie with Middletown High on the rainsoaked Orange county fairways.

A 3-0 victory scored by Ronnie Marks over Amelio, of Middletown, in the No. 2 singles was the key performance for Coach John Gilligan's Maroon swingers.

Harold Van Aken furned in a neat bit of golf by getting a standoff with Mickey Cosgrave, the Middie ace who is virtually unbeatable on his home course. Both posted 82s.

Bells on His Toes

Los Angeles (AP)—Twenty-month-old Mike Conrad thinks he's a pretty lucky young fellow to have bells on his toes. Although he occasionally bumps into things, he likes to toddle around the house just so he can hear their pleasant tinkle. The little bells, tied to his shoes, were the idea of his mother, Mrs Paul Conrad, 33, 1322 East 64th street. She decided she needed to know the whereabouts of the active, energetic youngster and bells tell her. Thus she can do her housework and, by the way the bells tinkle, she can tell where Mike is and pretty much what he is doing. If you think Mrs. Conrad is keeping closer tabs on her son than most mothers, she considers it necessary. Since birth, Mike has been blind.

Indians Fold—as Usual When Yankees Show Up

Ford Stops Tribe By 11-1 Score

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Until last night, the Cleveland Indians hadn't met the New York Yankees this season. Today they were wishing they had let well enough alone.

The clubs were tied for the league lead. This was the big chance for Cleveland to take over. At least that's the way it looked to the Indian fans.

Well, the Indians blew it, but good. They got whopped, 11-1. It was their worst licking this season.

Bob Lemon, Cleveland's best, duelled Whitey Ford, Casey Stengel's desperation hope, on even terms for three innings. Then came chaos.

Thirteen Yankees went to bat in the fourth. Seven of them singled, two walked, one got hit and eight scored. The Yankees added three more runs in the fifth.

The Indians couldn't do a thing with Ford until Wally Westlake came through with a bases-empty home run in the eighth.

So the Indians, who went into the game in an exact percentage tie with the Yankees, came out trailing by a big game and a half—the Yanks have played and won three more games—and with the onrushing Boston Red Sox only a half game back in third place.

Bosox Third

Boston took over third by whipping the Chicago White Sox, 5-1, while the Philadelphia Athletics were succumbing to Virgil Trucks and the St. Louis Browns, 2-1, in the other night games in the American League. The A's, who had been third, slipped to fourth.

Washington blasted Detroit, 14-4,, in the only day game although each club got 16 hits.

Rain washed out the entire National League program.

Bob Porterfield of the Senators lost seven games on shutouts last season. Yesterday he helped make sure he would get some runs in at least one of his games this year. Coming to bat with the bases loaded, the Washington righthander slammed his first major league home run. The blow was the big one although the Senators got 15 other hits off Bill Wight and four other Tiger hurlers. Porterfield, himself, gave up 16, about his usual quota for two full games.

Fourth Win for Parnell

Mel Parnell of the Red Sox won his fourth straight without a loss, the best record in either league, as he scattered five Chicago hits. Saul Rogovin drew the loss, his fourth in a row.

Vic Wertz of the Browns took over the home run lead in the American League as he hit his fifth of the year with one man on base. The two runs were all Trucks needed to post his third victory against one loss as he bested young Harry Byrd in an errorless game. Each club got eight hits with the A's only run coming on one of Trucks' two walks which Dave Philley followed with a double.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting—Bob Porterfield, Washington Senators, helped win his own game with his first major league home run, with the bases full, against Detroit. The Senators won, 14-4.

Pitching — Mel Parnell, Boston Red Sox, scattered five Chicago hits in winning his fourth game without a loss, 5-1, the best record in either league.

Bob Rush of the Chicago Cubs led the National League pitchers in hitting during the 1952 season. He batted .292.

Thelma Garon Hits 540 Series

Thelma Garon had a big night for herself in the Central Rec Women's League, posting high individual series of 160-160-190-540.

That was the best of five "500" triples, with Emma Pratt toppling high single of 230 and 527; Jennie Spada 508, Pat Pearson 507 and Jessie Burnett 502.

Lois DeCicco fired 471, M. McCaffrey 470, E. Hutton 466 and Arlene Raible 463.

Team results:

Bowery Dugout 2, Vanderlyn Battery 1; Fuller Shirts 3, Stone Ridge FA 0; Old Capital Motors 3, Tropical Inn 3; Jones Dairy 2, Regina's 1.

Girl Singer Gives Warning on Drugs

San Francisco, May 6 (AP)—One of the nation's top torch singers, Mary Ann McCall, 33, pleaded guilty of possession of narcotics yesterday and then told reporters "the H-habit (heroin) is a false crutch."

Superior Court Judge George W. Schonfeld will pass sentence May 19. It could run from 90 days to six years.

The flame-haired singer originally pleaded innocent and spent 23 days in the county jail.

"Don't get on the H," she advised. "If you do, reach for a .45 instead of a bindle. Blow your brains out—it's the best way out."

Miss McCall asked for the news conference and requested newsmen to warn newcomers in show business about the effects of narcotics.

"You know, I was the No. 1 girl vocalist in Metronome and Esquire and Downbeat in 1950—singing with Charlie Barnet, Woody Herman, Benny Goodman and Artie Shaw. Look at me now," she said.

"I had an $18,000 home, and it's gone. I spent $400 to $500 a week for the stuff.

"I wish I'd never gone to Portland, Ore. That's where it all started about four years ago. Someone talked me into trying morphine and five months later in New York I was introduced to heroin and fell into the habit.

"I think I'm cured," said Mary Ann. "I haven't used it in three months."

Marrelli Takes Over Gas Station

Anthony Marrelli has leased the large service station at Broadway and East St. James street from the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company and will operate it under the name of Marrelli's Service Station.

The station formerly was operated by Anthony Van Gonsic as Van's Service Station, and for many years prior to that was known as the Vining and Smith station.

Marrelli for the past four years has operated a car wash business at the same station. In addition he operates the Spring Lake Roller Rink.

The station, employing five persons at present, will be open seven days a week, from 7:30 a. m. until midnight.

Czech Magazine Claims No Change in Policy

Vienna, Austria, May 6 (AP)—A Czechoslovak Communist magazine claimed today that talk of a Russian "peace offensive" is a lot of western nonsense and that there is no change in Soviet policy.

Vienna diplomats said the unusual statement could be confirmation of a widespread western belief that the Kremlin peace drive is only propaganda.

However, it also could be just a roundabout restatement of the usual Communist line that the Soviet Union and her allies always have sought peace and are the only nations with a consistent record as peace-lovers and peace-seekers.

Literarni Noviny, a weekly publication for Czech Communist writers and artists, declared:

"In the last six weeks, the press of the capitalist world and particularly the American press has been full of news that a change has taken place in Soviet foreign policy. There has been much written and spoken about a Soviet peace offensive . . . this entire matter is only wishful thinking . . . the Soviet Union has never changed its foreign policy and has no need to change it."

Explosion in Car Probed by Detectives

New York, May 6 (AP)—A mysterious explosion in the trunk of a parked auto bombarded houses on a Queens street with jagged pieces of metal at 1:30 a. m. (EDT) today.

Ten windows were broken, a quarter-pound scrap of metal was imbedded in the door of a house across the street from the blast, and the neighborhood was aroused.

The owner of the auto told bomb squad detectives he had left a bottle of furniture polish, which was combustible, in the car trunk. The trunk was blown to bits and a fender blasted off the car. The detectives gave no indication to newsmen whether they believed the polish could have caused a blast of such intensity. They continued their investigation.

Wins Election Guess

Lima, O., May 6 (AP)—Fred F. Flager, clerk of the Allen county election board, won the election guessing championship yesterday. The Lima News asked Flager how many votes he estimated would be cast in yesterday's municipal primary. He said 11,111. When the board tallied all the ballots, including spoiled ones, it found the total was—11,111.

Ellenville Man Pays $200 Fine on Gambling Charge

Isham Mark Morzet, 49, Ellenville, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of violation of Section 986 of the Penal Law at an adjourned hearing before Police Justice Benjamin Lonstein last evening. The charge which Morzet admitted and pleaded to was accepting bets or wagers on numbers or bookmaking which it was alleged took place back in December of 1951 and January 1952.

On his plea of guilty Justice Lonstein imposed a $200 fine and a 30-day jail sentence but suspended the jail sentence on Morzet since the conviction was the first one. Charles Gaffney appeared for the district attorney's office.

Arrested April 29

The arrest of Morzet took place on April 29 during a series of raids and arrests on alleged gambling establishments in Kingston. Shortly after the last village election in Ellenville, Harry M. Thayer, editor of the Ellenville Press, charged that the numbers racket was rampant in Ellenville and he named Morzet as being involved. That charge was investigated by the district attorney's office and Thayer appeared before the district attorney in connection with the investigation. The arrest of Morzet followed. There was a large attendance at the adjourned hearing last evening before Justice Lonstein.

U. S. Might Pay Half of Damages

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The government may have to pay half the damages awarded survivors of 55 persons killed in a plane crash here Nov. 1, 1949.

U. S. District Judge Matthew F. McGuire in a test case yesterday, said the government is jointly liable with the Eastern Airlines for the collision between an airliner and a P-38 plane piloted by a Bolivian captain.

Judge McGuire said the personnel of the control tower at Washington National Airport failed to warn either plane that the other was on final approach to the airport.

Suits for almost 75 million dollars are pending. The one directly involved in yesterday's decision was for $65,000, brought by the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miller of Washington.

Highland Driver Injured in Mishap

Percival Robinson, 27, of Chodikee road, Highland, was admitted to Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie, early this morning suffering from injuries received when his car left Route 299 about two miles west of Highland and turned over, Highland state police reported today.

The hospital said this morning that Robinson's condition was "satisfactory." The nature of his injuries was not available.

Troopers said Robinson was traveling east on Route 299 at 3 a. m. today, went off the north side of the highway, lost control of the vehicle and rolled down an enbankment.

Louis Warner, 20, of Highland, a passenger in the car, left the scene apparently unhurt, troopers said.

Says Troops Well Fixed

Milledgeville, Ga., May 6 (AP)—Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens told a sesquicentennial audience here that United States soldiers in Korea "are well fixed for whatever may be in store." Stevens, speaking at yesterday's celebration of the city's 150th anniversary, called for Americans to "join together to hold the hands of our military leaders." Stevens recently made a personal inspection of forces in Korea. "I visited the Eighth Army in which so many of your boys are serving in Korea," he said. "I saw the ammunition that was there and I came back to report there is no shortage of ammunition in Korea."

Girl Singer Gives Warning on Drugs

San Francisco, May 6 (AP)—One of the nation's top torch singers, Mary Ann McCall, 33, pleaded guilty of possession of narcotics yesterday and then told reporters "the H-habit (heroin) is a false crutch."

Superior Court Judge George W. Schonfeld will pass sentence May 19. It could run from 90 days to six years.

The flame-haired singer originally pleaded innocent and spent 23 days in the county jail.

"Don't get on the H," she advised. "If you do, reach for a .45 instead of a bindle. Blow your brains out—it's the best way out."

Miss McCall asked for the news conference and requested newsmen to warn newcomers in show business about the effects of narcotics.

"You know, I was the No. 1 girl vocalist in Metronome and Esquire and Downbeat in 1950—singing with Charlie Barnet, Woody Herman, Benny Goodman and Artie Shaw. Look at me now," she said.

"I had an $18,000 home, and it's gone. I spent $400 to $500 a week for the stuff.

"I wish I'd never gone to Portland, Ore. That's where it all started about four years ago. Someone talked me into trying morphine and five months later in New York I was introduced to heroin and fell into the habit.

"I think I'm cured," said Mary Ann. "I haven't used it in three months."

Marrelli for the past four years has operated a car wash business at the same station. In addition he operates the Spring Lake Roller Rink.

The station, employing five persons at present, will be open seven days a week, from 7:30 a. m. until midnight.

Czech Magazine Claims No Change in Policy

Vienna, Austria, May 6 (AP)—A Czechoslovak Communist magazine claimed today that talk of a Russian "peace offensive" is a lot of western nonsense and that there is no change in Soviet policy.

Vienna diplomats said the unusual statement could be confirmation of a widespread western belief that the Kremlin peace drive is only propaganda.

However, it also could be just a roundabout restatement of the usual Communist line that the Soviet Union and her allies always have sought peace and are the only nations with a consistent record as peace-lovers and peace-seekers.

Literarni Noviny, a weekly publication for Czech Communist writers and artists, declared:

"In the last six weeks, the press of the capitalist world and particularly the American press has been full of news that a change has taken place in Soviet foreign policy. There has been much written and spoken about a Soviet peace offensive . . . this entire matter is only wishful thinking . . . the Soviet Union has never changed its foreign policy and has no need to change it."

Explosion in Car Probed by Detectives

New York, May 6 (AP)—A mysterious explosion in the trunk of a parked auto bombarded houses on a Queens street with jagged pieces of metal at 1:30 a. m. (EDT) today.

Ten windows were broken, a quarter-pound scrap of metal was imbedded in the door of a house across the street from the blast, and the neighborhood was aroused.

The owner of the auto told bomb squad detectives he had left a bottle of furniture polish, which was combustible, in the car trunk. The trunk was blown to bits and a fender blasted off the car. The detectives gave no indication to newsmen whether they believed the polish could have caused a blast of such intensity. They continued their investigation.

Wins Election Guess

Lima, O., May 6 (AP)—Fred F. Flager, clerk of the Allen county election board, won the election guessing championship yesterday. The Lima News asked Flager how many votes he estimated would be cast in yesterday's municipal primary. He said 11,111. When the board tallied all the ballots, including spoiled ones, it found the total was—11,111.

Ellenville Man Pays $200 Fine on Gambling Charge

Isham Mark Morzet, 49, Ellenville, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of violation of Section 986 of the Penal Law at an adjourned hearing before Police Justice Benjamin Lonstein last evening. The charge which Morzet admitted and pleaded to was accepting bets or wagers on numbers or bookmaking which it was alleged took place back in December of 1951 and January 1952.

On his plea of guilty Justice Lonstein imposed a $200 fine and a 30-day jail sentence but suspended the jail sentence on Morzet since the conviction was the first one. Charles Gaffney appeared for the district attorney's office.

Arrested April 29

The arrest of Morzet took place on April 29 during a series of raids and arrests on alleged gambling establishments in Kingston. Shortly after the last village election in Ellenville, Harry M. Thayer, editor of the Ellenville Press, charged that the numbers racket was rampant in Ellenville and he named Morzet as being involved. That charge was investigated by the district attorney's office and Thayer appeared before the district attorney in connection with the investigation. The arrest of Morzet followed. There was a large attendance at the adjourned hearing last evening before Justice Lonstein.
